THE LANCET.

A Journal of British and Foreign Medicine, Surgery, Obstetrics, Physiology, Chemistry, Pharmacology, Public Health, and News.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY.

Price 7d., by Post 7½d.

The Medical Profession

Will find in THE LANCET the best means of keeping themselves informed of the progress made in Medicine and Surgery and kindred subjects in all parts of the world; and the wide scope of the subjects dealt with in the columns of THE LANCET will ensure to its readers valuable and reliable information in all matters which concern their especial interests in particular and those of the profession in general.

THE LANCET was established in 1823 by the late Thomas Wakley, Surgeon, afterwards Member of Parliament for Finsbury and Coroner for West Middlesex. Its first number contained 36 small octavo pages, and the additions which have been made to its pages from time to time, to meet the ever-growing demands upon its space, last year (1904) culminated in a weekly average of 172 pages (53 issues), the total for the year being 9,112 pages.

Always Trustworthy

BATTLE & CO.'S three standard remedies have stood the test of time and experience, which has proven :—

BROMIDIA, the best and safest hypnotic known to the profession ;

PAPINE, the perfect anodyne, because it is the most pleasant to take, its effects are not cumulative, and the natural secretions are in no wise modified ; one fluid drachm is equal in anodyne power to $\frac{1}{8}$ grain of morphia.

ECTHOL, the most remarkably active and efficacious anti-purulent agent in the treatment of septic and infective states, acting as it does both constitutionally and locally.

BATTLE'S preparations are always of the same strength, and hence can always be relied upon to produce the same results under the same conditions.

The physician should always take special care to obtain the genuine preparations, which are only made by BATTLE. Substitution not only injures the well-deserved reputation of BROMIDIA, PAPINE, and ECTHOL, and of the Chemical House of BATTLE, but it also affects the reputation of the doctor, and is often harmful to the patient.

Literature and Samples sent free to the Medical Profession upon request.

MEMORANDUM OF ASSOCIATION OF THE BRITISH MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

1. The name of the Association is the "British Medical Association."

2. The registered office of the Association is to be in England.

3. The objects for which the Association is established are the promotion of medical and the allied sciences, and the maintenance of the honour and the interests of the medical profession by the aid of all or any of the following :—

(a.) Periodical meetings of the members of the Association, and of the medical profession generally, in different parts of the country.

(b.) By the publication of such information as may be thought desirable in the form of a periodical journal, which shall be the journal of the Association.

(c.) By the occasional publication of transactions or other papers.

(d.) By the grant of sums of money out of the funds of the Association for the promotion of the medical and the allied sciences in such manner as may from time to time be determined on.

(e.) And such other lawful things as are incidental or conducive to the attainment of the above objects.

4. The income and property of the Association, from whatever source derived, shall be applied solely towards the promotion of the objects of the Association as set forth in this Memorandum of Association, and no portion thereof shall be paid or transferred directly or indirectly by way of dividend or bonus or otherwise, by way of profit to the persons who at any time are or have been members of the Association, or to any person claiming through any of them, provided that nothing herein shall prevent the payment in good faith of remuneration to any officers or servants of the Association, or to any member of the Association or other person in return for any services actually rendered to the Association.

5. The 4th paragraph of this Memorandum is a condition on which the licence is granted by the Board of Trade to the Association in pursuance of Section 23 of the Companies Act, 1867. For the purpose of preventing any evasion of the terms of the said 4th paragraph, the Board of Trade may from time to time, on the application of any member of the Association, impose further conditions, which shall be duly observed by the Association.

6. If the Association act in contravention of the 4th paragraph of this Memorandum, or of any such further conditions, the liability of every Director hereinafter called Member of Committee of Council shall be unlimited, and the liability of every Member who has received any such dividend, bonus, or other profit aforesaid, shall likewise be unlimited.

7. Every Member of the Association undertakes to contribute to the assets of the Association in the event of the same being wound up, during the time that he is a Member, or within one year afterwards, for payment of the debts and liabilities of the Association contracted before the time at which he ceases to be a Member, and the costs, charges, and expenses of winding up the same, and for the adjustment of the rights of the contributories amongst themselves such amount as may be required, not exceeding the sum of one guinea, or in case of his liability becoming unlimited, such other amount as may be required in pursuance of the last preceding paragraph of this Memorandum.

We, the several persons whose names and addresses are subscribed to this Memorandum, are desirous of being formed into an Association in pursuance of this Memorandum of the Association.

SPECIAL RESOLUTION, BUT NOT OPERATIVE WITHOUT THE CONFIRMATION OF THE COURT, WHICH CONFIRMATION HAS NOT BEEN OBTAINED.

"That the provisions contained in the Memorandum of Association with respect to the objects of the Association be altered as follows:—

'1. By substituting for paragraph (a) the following paragraph, namely:—

(a) By holding the meetings of the Association in different parts of the United Kingdom and different parts of the British Empire.

'2. By substituting for paragraph (d) the following paragraph, namely:—

(d) By the grant of expenditure of such sums of money out of the funds of the Association for the promotion of the medical or allied sciences, or for the defence, promotion, or maintenance of the honour or interests of the medical profession, by such means, and in such manner, as the Council of the Association may think fit, including in particular taking or defending legal proceedings, and promoting or opposing Bills in Parliament.

'3. By substituting for paragraph (e) the following paragraphs, namely:—

(e) By undertaking any trusts that may seem to the Council of the Association directly or indirectly conducive to the interests of the medical profession.

(f) By delegating to any Branches of the Association in the United Kingdom or elsewhere such of the powers of the Association as in the opinion of the Council of the Association it shall be expedient to delegate.

(g) And by such other lawful means as in the opinion of the Council of the Association shall seem best calculated to promote the medical and allied sciences, or to maintain the honour and interests of the medical profession.'"

By omitting from Clause 6 of the Memorandum of Association the words "Committee of."

SPECIAL RESOLUTION

(Pursuant to the Companies Act, 1862, Sections 50 and 51.)

OF THE

BRITISH MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

Passed 18th June, 1902. Confirmed, 9th July, 1902.

At an Extraordinary General Meeting of the Members of the above-named Company, duly convened, and held at Exeter Hall, Strand, in the County of London, on the 18th day of June, 1902, the following Special Resolution was duly passed; and at a subsequent Extraordinary General Meeting of the Members of the said Company, also duly convened, and held at the same place on the 9th day of July, 1902, the following Special Resolution was duly confirmed:—

"That the draft new Regulations submitted to this Meeting, and for the purpose of identification initialled by the Chairman thereof, which Regulations have been prepared under the direction of the Committee appointed for the purpose by the Council in pursuance of Resolutions passed at the Annual General Meeting of the Association at Cheltenham in 1901, be and the same are hereby adopted as the Regulations of the Association to the exclusion of and in substitution for all the existing Regulations of the Association."

The following Articles and By-Laws are the new Regulations adopted in pursuance of the above Resolution, except in so far as the By-laws have from time to time been added to, modified, or otherwise amended by Resolutions of Representative Meetings in conformity with Articles XXXI. and XXXII.

ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION OF THE BRITISH MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

I. INTERPRETATION.

In these presents, unless there be something in the subject or context inconsistent therewith, the words and expressions following shall have the meanings hereinafter assigned to them, respectively :—

"The Association" means the above-named Association.

"The Regulations" means the regulations contained in these Articles of Association, with such, if any, modifications as may from time to time be made therein.

"The By-laws" means the By-laws set forth in the Schedule hereto or other the By-laws for the time being of the Company in force.

"The Council" means the Council hereinafter mentioned.

"The Journal" means the journal to be published as hereinafter provided.

"Division" and "Branch" mean respectively a division and branch constituted as hereinafter provided.

"Existing" means existing at the time when these regulations come into operation.

Words importing singular number include the plural and vice versa.

Words importing the masculine gender include the feminine gender.

II. MEMBERSHIP.

The existing Members of the Association are those whose names are entered in the Register of Members of the Association as members at the time when these Regulations come into operation, and subsequent Members shall be those persons who, being eligible, shall, after the date when these Regulations come into operation, be duly elected in such manner and upon such conditions as may be prescribed from time to time by the By-laws.

III. ELIGIBILITY.

Any Medical Practitioner registered in the United Kingdom under the Medical Acts, and any Medical Practitioner residing within the area of any Branch of the Association situate in any part of the British Empire other than the United Kingdom, who is so registered or possesses such medical qualifications as shall, subject to the Regulations, be prescribed by the Rules of the said Branch, shall be eligible as a Member of the Association. The mode and conditions of election to Membership shall from time to time be determined by or in accordance with the By-laws.

Every Member, whether one of the existing Members or a subsequently elected Member, shall remain a Member until he ceases to be a Member in accordance with the provisions hereof.

IV. RECOGNISED LOCAL BODIES, DIVISIONS AND BRANCHES.

For the better attainment of the objects of the Association the Members thereof shall be formed into separate Local Bodies styled Divisions and Branches.

A Division shall comprise such body of Members as the Association shall in the manner prescribed by its By-laws recognise and declare to be a Division, and a Branch shall be such Division, or such group of Divisions, as the Association shall in like manner recognise and declare to be a Branch. Each Division shall have a local area to be fixed from time to time by or in accordance with the provisions contained in the By-laws. Every Member whose registered address in the books of the Association is for the time being situated within the area of any Division shall, ipso facto, be an Ordinary Member of that Division and of no other, and every Ordinary Member of a Division shall, ipso facto, be an Ordinary Member of the Branch which comprises that Division and of no other.

Every Division shall appoint from time to time and shall at all times have a Division Secretary, and every Branch shall from time to time appoint and at all times have a Branch Secretary, and each Division and Branch shall give to the General Secretary notice of every such appointment and of the Appointee's address. Every such Secretary must be a Member of the Division or Branch appointing him.

V. CONSTITUTION AND GOVERNMENT OF DIVISIONS AND BRANCHES.

Subject to the Regulations for the time being, Divisions and Branches shall be so constituted, managed, and governed, and shall have such powers, rights, and privileges, and shall be under such obligations, as shall be prescribed by or in accordance with the By-laws. And the By-laws may provide for contributions, grants and subscriptions out of the general funds of the Association to Branches, and may impose on the Members of any Division or Branch such obligations towards the Association and the Division and Branch respectively as may seem expedient, and may empower any Division or Branch to make any Rules in relation to the affairs thereof, and to vary and repeal any such Rules.

VI. EXTRAORDINARY MEMBERS.

Subject to the By-laws, any Division or Branch may elect Extraordinary Members, whether as Associate or Complimentary Members. An Extraordinary Member shall not take part in any vote of the Division or Branch, but otherwise shall enjoy such privileges, and be subject to such obligations, as may respectively be conferred and imposed upon him by or in accordance with the By-laws.

VII. SUBSCRIPTION.

As from the 1st January, 1903, and except as hereinafter mentioned, every Member shall pay to the Association an Annual Subscription of twenty-five shillings, or of such greater amount, not exceeding thirty shillings, as the Council may from time to time in accordance with the

By-laws determine, and the said subscription shall be considered due in advance on the 1st January in each year. In the case of a Member admitted after the 1st July in any year the subscription for that year shall be one-half the current annual subscription, and shall be due in advance on the day of election. The subscription shall be paid by each Member to such officer of the Association, or of any recognised Local Body thereof, as may be appointed by the By-laws of the Association for the time being to receive the same. Each year's subscription shall entitle the Member to all privileges of Membership of the Association, including that of receiving the Journal for the current year, and to the ordinary privileges, as defined by the Regulations for the time being, of Membership of that Division and of that Branch of which he is an Ordinary Member.

VIII. ARREARS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Any Member whose subscription shall not have been paid on or before the 31st December of the current year shall, without prejudice to his liability to the Association, be suspended from all privileges of Membership, and at the end of the succeeding year, if the arrears be still unpaid, he shall, ipso facto, cease to be a Member. No Member shall (except in case of his death or expulsion, or of his ceasing to be a Member under the previous provisions of this Article) cease to be a Member without having given previous notice, in writing, of his intention in that behalf on or before the 1st December in the current year to the Secretary of the Association and having paid all arrears of subscription (if any) due from him.

IX. RE-ELECTION OF FORMER MEMBERS.

No person who shall have been a Member of the Association and ceased to be such shall be eligible for re-election until he shall have paid all arrears of subscription (if any) due from him to the Association at the date when his former Membership ceased, and no person whose former Membership shall have been forfeited under the provisions of Articles XLII., XLIII., and XLIV., or any of them shall be eligible for re-election by any Branch Council without the sanction previously obtained of the Council of the Association.

X. HONORARY MEMBERS.

Eminent Members of the Medical Profession wherever residing, persons distinguished in the Sanitary or Allied Sciences, and persons who may have rendered distinguished service to the Association or who in the opinion of the Council will confer honour on or advance the interests of the Association, may be elected Honorary Members by the Association in General Meeting on the recommendation of the Council. Honorary Members shall have none of the liabilities of Members as regards subscriptions, and shall not be entitled to any vote, but shall have the privilege of attending the Annual General Meeting and such other privileges as may be conferred upon them. Every Honorary Member shall cease to be such Member upon a resolution of the Council to that effect passed by a two-thirds majority of those present and confirmed by a General Meeting.

XI. PUBLICATIONS.

A Journal, under the title of the British Medical Journal, shall be published weekly in London by the Association, and shall be conducted by a paid Editor, who shall be responsible for all that appears therein, except such matters as are inserted in accordance with the Regulations and By-laws of the Association or by direction of the Council. The Editor shall be subject to the control of the Council.

XII. ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING.

A General Meeting shall be held once in the year 1903 and in each subsequent year at such time as shall be fixed by the Council, and at such place as may be prescribed by the Association in General Meeting, and, if no time is so fixed, a General Meeting shall be held on the 20th October, or, if that day be on a Sunday, on the 21st, and shall, if no place is so prescribed, be held at the registered offices of the Association, or at such other place as the Council may prescribe.

XIII. MEETINGS, ORDINARY AND EXTRAORDINARY.

All General Meetings other than the Annual General Meetings shall be called Extraordinary General Meetings.

XIV. EXTRAORDINARY GENERAL MEETING.

The Council may, whenever it thinks fit, and it shall, upon a requisition made in writing as hereinafter provided by any 100 or more Members, convene an Extraordinary General Meeting for the purpose of transacting any such business as by Statute or by the Regulations of the Association is appointed to be transacted by a General Meeting.

XV. REQUISITION FOR EXTRAORDINARY GENERAL MEETING.

Any requisition made by Members shall express the object of the Meeting proposed to be called, such object being to transact some business which by Statute or by the Regulations of the Association is required to be transacted by a General Meeting, and the said requisition shall be left at the registered offices of the Association.

XVI. CONVENING EXTRAORDINARY GENERAL MEETING UPON REQUISITION.

Upon the receipt of such a requisition the Council shall forthwith proceed to convene a General Meeting, and if it do not do so within twenty-one days from the leaving of the requisition, any 100 Members may themselves convene a Meeting for the object specified in the requisition.

XVII. NOTICE OF MEETINGS.

Seven days' notice at the least of the holding of a General Meeting, specifying the place, the day, and the hour of meeting, and in the case of special business, the nature of such business, shall be given to the Members in the manner prescribed by the Regulations of the Association, but the non-receipt of such notice by or accidental omission to give such notice to any Member shall not invalidate the proceedings at any General Meeting. Where it is proposed to pass a Special Resolution, the two requisite Meetings may be convened by one and the same notice, and it shall be no objection to such notice that it only convenes the second Meeting, contingently on the Resolution being passed by the requisite majority at the first Meeting, or that it does not specify the day for the second Meeting otherwise than by stating that the same will be held at an interval of 14 clear days from the day on which the first Meeting is concluded.

XVIII. BUSINESS OF ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING.

The business of an Annual General Meeting shall be to do all or any of the things following :—

(A.) Internal Affairs.

(A.) Transact such business relating to the internal affairs of the Association as by Statute or by the Regulations of the Association for the time being shall be appointed to be so transacted which shall include electing Officers, viz. :—President, Vice-Presidents, and Treasurer, electing Honorary Members when recommended by the Council, appointing a place at which the next Annual General Meeting shall be held, considering the Annual Financial Statement and Balance Sheet presented by the Council, appointing an Auditor and fixing his remuneration as required by Statute.

(B.) Scientific Proceedings.

(B.) Receive such addresses, and such other communications, and discuss such matters pertaining to the Medical and Allied Sciences as the Council shall have arranged to be received or discussed by the Members assembled in General Meeting or in such Sectional Meetings as the Council may think proper to arrange.

XIX. PROCEDURE—ANNUAL GENERAL MEETINGS.

The Council shall arrange the order of business of an Annual General Meeting, and shall fix the times at which matters described under the heads (A) and (B) of the last preceding Article shall respectively be considered. At the expiration of the time appropriated for the transaction of any particular business, any portion of such business remaining for consideration shall be adjourned by the Chairman without discussion to such time as may have been appointed by the meeting for the resumed consideration of business of that description. This regulation shall not be understood to apply to Sectional Meetings.

The Council shall appoint for the Annual General Meeting the Presidents and other Officers of Sections, and shall select the Readers of Addresses.

XX. CHAIRMAN.

The President of the Association, if present, shall preside as Chairman at the opening of every Annual General Meeting, during the election of Officers and Honorary Members, and during the reading of addresses. In the absence of the President, the Chairman of Council shall preside, and in his absence, a Chairman shall be appointed by the Meeting. At Annual General Meetings, during the consideration of business other than that hereinbefore described, and at Extraordinary General Meetings the Chairman of Council shall preside, and in his absence a Chairman shall be appointed by the Meeting.

XXI. SPECIAL BUSINESS OF GENERAL MEETINGS.

Special business includes all business discussed or transacted at Extraordinary Meetings, and also all business discussed or transacted at Annual General Meetings, except the ordinary business referred to in Article XVIII. No business shall be discussed or transacted in any General Meeting as special business, except such business as by Statute must be dealt with by Special Resolution, as defined in the Companies Act, 1862, and such business as the Regulations or By-laws of the Association may at any time expressly required to be dealt with in General Meetings.

XXII. REFERENDUM ON RESOLUTION OF GENERAL MEETING.

(1) Within seven days after each General Meeting of the Association the Council shall hold a meeting to consider the resolutions passed at such General Meeting, except those referred to in paragraph (6) of this Article, and until such meeting of the Council is held the operation of the resolutions except as aforesaid passed at such General Meeting shall be suspended. The said meeting of the Council may be convened by a Notice served before or after such General Meeting or during the progress thereof.

(2) As regards each resolution to be considered at such meeting of the Council it shall rest with the Council at such meeting to approve of such resolution or, on the ground that it does not properly represent the wishes of the Association, to determine on a Referendum.

(3) If at such meeting the Council approves of any such resolution as aforesaid, or does not determine on a Referendum, the resolution shall at once come into operation, and if such meeting is not held the resolution shall come into operation at the expiration of the seven days aforesaid.

(4) If at such meeting the Council determines on a Referendum, then the Council shall, within four months after such determination, refer the resolution, accompanied by such observations as the Council may think desirable, to the consideration of special meetings of all the Divisions convened at the instance of the Council.

(5) Where any Resolution is thus referred, it shall not be valid and binding as a decision of the Association unless and until it is approved by a majority of the aggregate votes given thereon throughout the Association in the said special meetings of the Divisions, and the Divisions shall respectively be bound to hold meetings accordingly, and to certify to the Council the result of the voting thereat upon the Resolution.

(6) The foregoing provisions as to a Referendum shall not apply to a Resolution capable of being confirmed as a Special Resolution, or to a Resolution confirming as a Special Resolution a Resolution previously passed, or to an Extraordinary Resolution, or to any Resolution relating solely to the procedure of the Meeting.

XXIII. QUORUM.

Except as hereinafter provided in this Article no business shall be transacted in any General Meeting unless there be present the number of Members required by the By-laws to form a quorum, which number shall be not less than one hundred, and unless and until otherwise determined the quorum shall be 100 Members. If within one hour from the time appointed for the Meeting a quorum of Members be not present, the Meeting, if convened upon the requisition of Members, shall be dissolved. In any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the following week at the same time and place, and if at such adjourned Meeting a quorum be not present those present shall be deemed to be a quorum.

XXIV. ADJOURNMENT OF MEETINGS.

The Chairman of any General Meeting may, with the consent of the Meeting, adjourn any business from time to time and from place to place; but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned Meeting other than the business left unfinished at the Meeting from which the adjournment took place.

XXV. VOTING AT GENERAL MEETINGS.

At a General Meeting, unless a poll is demanded in writing by at least five Members, a declaration by the Chairman that a Resolution has been carried, or carried by a particular majority, or lost or not carried by a particular majority, and an entry to that effect in the book of proceedings of the Association shall be sufficient evidence of the fact without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of or against any such Resolution. If a poll be demanded by five Members or more, the same shall be taken in such manner and either at once or after an interval or adjournment, as the Chairman directs, and the result of such poll shall be deemed to be the Resolution of the Association in General Meeting. On a show of hands every Member present in person shall have one vote, and upon a poll every Member present in person shall have one vote. Votes must be given personally. In case of an equality of votes at any General Meeting, the Chairman shall have a second or casting vote.

XXVI. REPRESENTATIVE MEETINGS.

Every Division shall be entitled at least once in each year to elect a Representative, or if the Regulations and By-laws of the Association so provide, to combine with another Division, or with other Divisions, in electing a Representative. The Representatives so elected together with the Members of the Council shall be entitled to take part in all Representative Meetings. No Member of the Association who is not a Representative of a Division or group of Divisions or a Member of the Council shall be entitled to take part in any Representative Meeting. The first Representative Meeting shall be held in the year 1903.

XXVII. ELECTION OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Representatives of Divisions shall be elected by Constituencies formed as follows, each such Constituency being entitled to elect one Representative:—Any Division having not less than 50 Members may form one Constituency, and every Division having less than 50 Members shall be grouped by the Council with another Division or with other Divisions to form a Constituency having not less than 50 Members. In no case shall the total number of Constituencies formed throughout the Association exceed 300, and the final delimitation of such Constituencies shall rest with the Council. In the case of a Constituency formed within the United Kingdom, the Representative shall be elected by a general meeting of Members of the Constituency held not more than 3 months nor less than 3 weeks before the Annual Representative Meeting, and in the case of a Constituency not formed within the United Kingdom, the Representative shall be elected either in manner aforesaid or by voting papers sent to each Member of the Constituency, as the said Constituency may decide. Such Meeting shall be convened, or such voting papers dispatched by the Secretary of the Constituency, who, in the case of a Constituency composed of more than one Division, shall be chosen by the Secretaries of those Divisions, and if they cannot agree by the Council. The Secretary of each Constituency shall inform, not less than 14 days before the Representative Meeting, the General Secretary of the name and address of the Representative elected by such Constituency, and the General Secretary shall issue to such Representative a ticket of admission to the Meeting.

XXVIII. ANNUAL REPRESENTATIVE MEETING.

A Representative Meeting styled the Annual Representative Meeting, shall be convened in the year 1903, and in each subsequent year, by the Council, at the same place, and to commence on the same day, but at a later hour than the Annual General Meeting, or to commence on the day following the day of commencement of the Annual General Meeting. The Annual Representative Meeting may adjourn from day to day until the completion of its business, or until the expiration of four days from the first day of its Meeting, whichever shall first occur, and shall then be dissolved ipso facto.

XXIX. SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE MEETINGS.

Representative Meetings other than the Annual Representative Meeting shall be styled Special Representative Meetings, and may be convened at any time after the 1st January, 1903, by the Council of its own motion, or, on requisition of not less than three Constituencies, shall be so convened, for the purpose of transacting any business which, by the Regulations, may be transacted thereby.

At least fourteen days' notice of such Meeting shall be given in the Journal.

A Special Representative Meeting may be adjourned, but so that such Meeting shall not be continued by adjournment for more than two days.

XXX. PROVISION OF SUBSTITUTES FOR REPRESENTATIVES.

In the event of a Representative of any Constituency being unable or unwilling to attend a Representative Meeting, the said Constituency shall have power to select a Representative to act at the said Meeting in his stead.

XXXI. BUSINESS OF ANNUAL REPRESENTATIVE MEETING.

The business of the Annual Representative Meeting shall be to elect a Representative of a Division as the Chairman of Representative Meetings for the year; to elect such other Officers and such Members of Committees as by the Regulations or By-laws for the time being may be appointed to be so elected; to consider Reports of the Council, Reports of Committees instructed to report to such Meeting, and motions relating to the adoption of such Reports in whole or in part; to make new By-laws and alter and repeal existing By-laws, subject to the Regulations for the time being; and to consider any resolution relating to the honour and interests of the Medical Profession or of the Association which shall have been adopted by any Division or Branch and submitted through the Journal for the consideration of all the Divisions not less than three months previously.

XXXII. BUSINESS OF SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE MEETINGS.

The business of a Special Representative Meeting shall be to make any new By-law or alter or repeal any existing By-law subject to the Regulations for the time being, and to deal with any other matter of special urgency which may be brought by not less than three Constituencies before such Meeting, or which shall have been submitted by the Council to the Divisions for the purpose of decision by the said Meeting. No business shall be dealt with by a Special Representative Meeting other than that for which it is specifically convened.

XXXIII. CHAIRMAN OF REPRESENTATIVE MEETINGS.

The Chairman of Representative Meetings, when present, shall preside over each Representative Meeting convened during his term of Office. In his absence the Meeting shall appoint a Chairman.

XXXIV. BY-LAWS RELATING TO REPRESENTATIVE MEETINGS.

Subject to the Regulations of the Association for the time being, the provisions as to the mode of election of Representatives, as to the convening and time and place of Representative Meetings, and as to the procedure and mode of voting in such Meetings, shall be as prescribed by the By-laws.

XXXV. POWERS OF REPRESENTATIVE MEETINGS AND REFERENDUM.

A Resolution of any Representative Meeting (not being a Resolution inconsistent with any provision of the Companies Acts or of the Memorandum or Articles of Association) which affects the funds of the Association, or relates to the By-laws or to the policy of the Association in matters affecting the honour or interests of the Medical Profession, and is carried by a majority of two-thirds of the votes given thereon, or which relates to any other business prescribed by the Regulations or By-laws to be dealt with by such Meeting, and is carried by a simple majority, shall be deemed to be a decision of the Association, and to have the same force and validity as a Resolution (other than a Special Resolution as defined by the Companies Act, 1862) of the Association in General Meeting.

Nevertheless the provisions of Article XXII. hereof shall mutatis mutandis apply to a Resolution passed at a Representative Meeting.

XXXVI. OFFICERS.

There shall be the following Officers of the Association, namely: a President, a President-Elect, a Past-President, Vice-Presidents, a Chairman of Representative Meetings, a Chairman of Council, a Treasurer, an Editor of the Journal, and a General Secretary. The Officers aforesaid for the time being other than the Chairman of Council, the Editor of the Journal, and the General Secretary, shall hold office for such period and shall have and enjoy such duties, powers, and privileges as shall be determined from time to time by the Association in its By-laws.

The Chairman of Council shall be elected by the Council from its own number, and shall hold office for such period and discharge such duties as shall be determined by the Council. The Editor of the Journal and the General Secretary shall respectively be elected by the Council and shall hold office for such period and have and enjoy such duties, powers, and privileges (save in so far as the said duties, powers, and privileges are defined by these Articles) and shall receive such emoluments as shall be determined from time to time by the Council.

XXXVIII. COMPOSITION OF COUNCIL.

The Council shall consist of the President of the Association, the President-Elect, the Past-President, Chairman of Representative Meetings (if any), and Treasurer, ex officio, and of such other Members appointed in such manner and holding office for such periods as the Association by the By-laws may from time to time prescribe.

XXXIX. POWERS OF COUNCIL.

It shall be the duty of the Council to carry into execution resolutions passed by a General Meeting or a Representative Meeting, subject nevertheless to the provisions of Articles XXII. and XXXV., and generally to conduct the business of the Association in accordance with the Regulations and By-laws, but no By-law shall invalidate any prior act of the Council which would have been valid had such By-law not been made.

XL. APPOINTMENT OF DEPUTIES.

In the event of the incapacity, resignation, or death of any officer whose election is required to be made by the Association in its Annual General or Annual Representative Meeting, the Council may appoint any Member of the Association to fill such vacancy until the next Annual Meeting.

XLI. COMMITTEES.

Committees may be appointed in such manner and having such powers as may be prescribed by the By-laws, or as the Council, subject to the provisions of the By-laws, may think proper. The President of the Association and the Chairman of Council shall be, ex officio, Members of all Committees of the Association.

XLII. FORFEITURE OF MEMBERSHIP.

Any Member of the Association who (a) shall have been convicted in a Court of Justice of any felony or misdemeanour, or (b) whose name shall have been erased from the Medical Register under Section 29 of the Medical Act, 1858, or (c) who shall have forfeited by misconduct the Medical Qualification by virtue of which he became eligible for membership in pursuance of the provisions of Articles II. and III. shall, ipso facto, cease to be a Member of the Association.

XLIII. EXPULSION BY THE ASSOCIATION.

Any Member of the Association whose conduct shall, upon due inquiry, be deemed to be detrimental to the honour and interests of the Medical Profession, or calculated to bring the Profession into disrepute, may be expelled from Membership by such body or bodies appointed for the purpose and in such manner as may be prescribed by the Regulations of the Association for the time being.

XLIV. EXPULSION OF MEMBERS.

(a.) By the Council of the Association.

The Council shall have power on the representation of any Branch and after due enquiry, of which the Member involved shall have received not less than fourteen days' notice, finally to expel from Membership of the Association any Member of such Branch whose conduct shall be held to be such as renders him liable to expulsion under Article XLIII.

(b.) By Branches out of the United Kingdom.

Each Branch out of the United Kingdom having a Membership of not less than 30 shall have power, on the representation of any two Members of such Branch and after due enquiry, at a Special Meeting convened at not less than one month's notice to expel from Membership of the Association any Member of such Branch whose conduct shall be held to be such as renders him liable to expulsion under Article XLIII.

(c.) Majority Necessary.

A majority of two-thirds of those present and voting whether in the Council or in a Branch Meeting shall be required for the purpose of exercising the powers conferred by the last two preceding Clauses.

(d.) Liability after Expulsion.

When a Member is expelled he shall ipso facto cease to be a Member but shall be liable to pay to the Association all sums due from him to the Association or any Division or Branch thereof, at the time of his expulsion.

(e.) Resignation when Enquiry Pending.

No Member in regard to whom a representation as aforesaid has been made or whose conduct is under investigation, or is the subject of enquiry by the Council or by a Branch shall be capable of effectively resigning his Membership of the Association until the decision of the Council or Branch be made known.

XLV. TRAVELLING EXPENSES.

The first class travelling expenses within the United Kingdom of Members of Council and Representatives of Divisions attending the Annual Representative Meeting shall be defrayed out of the general funds of the Association. Attendance of Representatives of Divisions for this purpose shall be construed to mean attendance at each daily Session of the Annual Representative Meeting, and at each daily Session of the Annual General Meeting, when business described under the head (A) is being transacted, unless the Council shall be satisfied that good cause existed for absence from any particular Session or Sessions. The first class travelling expenses within the United Kingdom of all Members attending Meetings of Council or of Committees shall be paid by the Association. The Council shall determine what shall be considered an attendance for the purpose of this Clause.

XLVI. NOTICES.

A Notice may be served by the Association upon any Member, either personally or by sending it through the post, in a prepaid letter addressed to such Member at his registered place of abode, or by publication of such Notice in the Journal, and sending a copy of the Journal containing such Notice to such Member, prepaid and addressed, as above mentioned. A Notice may be served by the Association on any Division or Branch, by serving the same as aforesaid on the Secretary of such Division or Branch, and if there be none, then upon any two Members of such Division or Branch. Any Notice, if served by post, shall be deemed to have been served on the day following that on which the letter, or a copy of the Journal containing the same, is posted, and in proving such service it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter, or a copy of the Journal containing the Notice, was properly addressed and put into the Post Office.

XLVII. BY-LAWS.

Save so far as determined by Statute, or by the Regulations for the time being of the Association, the constitution and mode of government of the Association, the rights and obligations of every Member and separate body of Members thereof, the duties, powers and privileges of all Officers, and of all Councils, Committees and governing and administrative bodies, both of the Association and of every Division and Branch, shall be such as may from time to time be prescribed and determined by or in accordance with By-laws from time to time made by a Representative Meeting, and new By-laws may be made and By-laws may be altered or repealed at any time by a Representative Meeting, provided that every such proposed new By-law amendment or repeal shall have been approved and brought before the Meeting either by the Council or by a Division, and that notice thereof shall have been given through the Journal not less than three months before the Annual Representative Meeting, or one month before a Special Representative Meeting as the case may be. The first By-laws shall be in the terms set forth in the Schedule hereto, and such By-laws shall come into operation when these Regulations come into operation, and shall take effect as if made under the foregoing provisions of this Article.

XLVIII. BINDING FORCE OF BY-LAWS.

The By-laws so made and for the time being in force shall be binding on the Members with reference to whom they are made.

XLIX. NUMBER OF MEMBERS.

The number of Members of the Association is unlimited.

THE SCHEDULE ABOVE REFERRED TO.

By-Laws of the British Medical Association.

ELECTION OF MEMBERS.

1. Application.

Every candidate for Membership of the Association shall apply for election in writing, addressed to the Association and stating his agreement, if elected, to abide by the Regulations and By-laws of the Association, and the rules of such Division and Branch to which he may at any time belong, and to pay his subscription for the current year.

2. Election by a Branch Council.

Every candidate who resides within the area of a Branch shall forward his application to the Secretary of such Branch. Notice of the proposed election shall be sent by the Branch Secretary to the General Secretary of the Association and to every Member of the Branch Council, and the candidate, if not disqualified by any Regulation of the Association, may be elected a Member of the Association by the Branch Council at any meeting thereof held not less than seven days (or such longer period as the Branch may by its Rules prescribe) after the date of the said notice. A Branch may by special Resolution require that each candidate for election to the Association shall furnish a certificate from two Members of the Association, to whom he is personally known. Officers of the Navy, Army and Indian Medical Service on the Active List, are eligible for election through the Council or a Branch without approving signatures as laid down in By-law 3.

3. Election by the Council of the Association.

Every candidate whose place of residence is not included in the area of any Branch shall forward his application to the General Secretary of the Association, together with a statement signed by three Members of the Association that from personal knowledge they consider him a suitable person for election. Notice of the proposed election shall be sent by the General Secretary to every Member of the Council, and the candidate, if not disqualified by any Regulation of the Association, may be elected a Member of the Association by the Council at any meeting thereof held not less than one month after the date of the said notice.

DIVISIONS AND BRANCHES.

4. Formation.

It shall rest with the Council from time to time to determine, recognise, and declare by resolution published in the Journal what bodies of Members shall be divisions, and what divisions and groups of divisions shall be branches of the Association, and what shall be the local area of each division, and accordingly the Council shall have full power from time to time to amalgamate, subdivide, and modify divisions and branches and the local areas thereof. Nevertheless, not less than one calendar month's notice in all cases shall be given to any existing Division or Branch in whose boundaries or area any change is proposed.

5. Determination of Boundaries.

In determining the boundaries or area of Divisions and Branches, the Council shall have regard primarily to the expressed wishes of the existing local bodies concerned, and to the facilities of communication in each district by railway and otherwise, and the opportunities thus afforded to Members of local bodies for meeting to transact the business thereof; and secondarily, to the expediency of making the boundaries of such bodies coincide with those of Parliamentary Constituencies, Counties, or other public administrative divisions of the country.

6. Annual List of Members.

In the month of May in each year a List of Members of the Association shall be prepared and published showing the ordinary membership of each Division and Branch as shown by the Register of Members of the Association on 30th April of that year, and those named in the said List as Members of any Division or Branch shall be deemed to be the Ordinary Members of such Division and Branch for the purpose of Article XXVII. and for the purposes of By-laws 8, 20, 23 and 24.

7. Management of Divisions.

Any Executive Committee or Council appointed to manage the affairs of any Division shall include, ex officio, the Member who for the time being represents the Division in Representative Meetings; and the Council of any Division which is not in itself a Branch shall also include, as ex officio Members thereof, the Members of the Branch Council elected by such Division.

8. Management of Branches.

The management of the affairs of each Branch shall be vested in a Branch Council, of which the Members of the Council of the Association elected by the Branch shall be Members ex officio. In the case of a Branch comprising more than one Division, each Division shall be entitled to elect a Member or Members of the Branch Council, and the number of Members to be elected by each Division shall be as nearly as possible proportional to the membership of such Division. In addition to the Members so elected, the Branch Council may have as ex officio Members thereof such Officers of the Branch as the Branch may think desirable.

9. Reports by Divisions and Branches.

Every Division shall furnish annually to the Branch Council during the month of January, and every Branch shall furnish to the Council of the Association not later than the 15th March, a Report of its proceedings during the previous year, a statement of its numbers, and a financial statement in such form as the Council may from time to time prescribe.

10. Extraordinary Members—"Associate," "Complimentary."

Extraordinary Members shall be either Associate or Complimentary Members. Any Division or Branch may elect any Ordinary Member of any other Division or Branch as an Associate Member, and any Division or Branch not in the United Kingdom may elect as a Complimentary Member, any qualified Medical Practitioner resident within the area thereof, but not eligible by birth or qualification for Membership of the Association. Divisions or Branches may by their local rules confer on Extraordinary Members such privileges other than that of voting, and impose such conditions of election as they may think desirable, subject to the sanction of the Council.

11. Autonomy.

(a) Subject to the Regulations and By-laws of the Association, each Division and each Branch shall be free to govern itself in such manner as it shall think fit, and for that purpose to make from time to time such Rules as it think fit, and to repeal or alter the same as and when it shall consider it expedient.

(b) The Rules so made and for the time being in force shall be binding on the Members constituting the Division or Branch in reference to which they are made.

12. Rules.

The Rules made by Divisions and Branches shall be submitted for approval to the Council, and shall not come into operation unless and until they are approved by such Council.

SUBSCRIPTION.

13. Amount.

The Council in exercising the power conferred upon it by Article VII., shall insert a notice in the Journal not later than the first Saturday in November of any year to increase the annual subscription to such amount, not exceeding 30s., as it may think necessary or desirable, such increase of subscription to take effect on the first day of January following.

14. To whom paid.

Subscriptions shall be paid by all Members to the General Secretary at the registered office of the Association, or, in the case of Members residing out of the United Kingdom, to such persons (if any) as the General Secretary may authorise to receive subscriptions on his behalf, of which authorisation notice shall be given to all Members concerned.

15. Extra Subscription to Divisions and Branches.

It shall be competent for any Division or Branch offering special privileges to its Members to require a special subscription from those Members who avail themselves of such special privileges, and it shall likewise be competent for any Division or Branch to charge such special subscription as it may think proper to its Extraordinary Members; but no Ordinary Member of any Division or Branch shall be called upon to pay any further subscription than that paid to the Association as a condition of enjoying any ordinary privilege of Membership of such Division or Branch.

16. Grant to Branches.

As from the 1st January, 1903, the Treasurer of the Association shall annually pay or allow to the Treasurer of each Branch the sum of 4s. for each Member of the said Branch who has paid to the Association the full current annual subscription for that year, and the sum of 2s. for each Member elected after the 1st July, who has paid to the Association half the current annual subscription. The grants made under this clause shall be applied to the expenses of the bodies to which they are made at the discretion of those bodies and within the limits of the objects of the Association as defined in paragraph 3 of the Memorandum of Association. For the purposes of this By-law, those named in the Annual List of Members, prepared in May in any year, as Members of any Branch, shall be deemed to be Members of the said Branch for the said year, and those elected by any Branch Council, whose membership dates from 1st July in any year, shall be deemed to be Members of the said Branch for the ensuing half-year.

17. Branch Subscription.

Out of the moneys received in accordance with the last preceding By-law, the Branch shall defray all its expenses, and shall also pay to each Division of the Branch such sum per Member as the Branch Council may consider necessary to defray the expenses of the Division.

REPRESENTATIVE MEETINGS.

18. Appointment of Substitutes.

The powers conferred under Article XXX. upon any Constituency to appoint a substitute in the place of a Representative unable or unwilling to attend a Representative Meeting, shall be exercised by such Constituency in General Meeting, or by some Officer or Member of the Division or Divisions composing the Constituency who shall have been authorised by the Rules of the said Division or Divisions, or shall by a resolution of the said Constituency be authorised to exercise such powers.

19. Order of Business.

The first daily session of the Annual Representative Meeting shall be held not later than two hours after the time fixed for the commencement of the Annual General Meeting. The first business of such session shall be to elect the Chairman of Representative Meetings. The next business shall be to determine the order in which the various matters placed upon the Agenda of the said Meeting shall be taken. The minutes of each Representative Meeting shall be forwarded by the Chairman thereof to the Council.

20. Voting.

In any Representative Meeting, Representatives of Divisions only shall be entitled to vote. Voting shall be, as a rule, by show of hands, unless before such vote is taken twenty of those present determine that the vote shall be taken by card, in which case every Representative shall record as many votes as there are Members in the Constituency which he represents. In voting upon any matter upon which a Constituency has passed a Resolution within the nine months immediately preceding such Meeting, the Representative of that Constituency shall be under obligation to vote in accordance with such Resolution. When the vote is taken by show of hands the Chairman shall, in the case of an equality of votes, have a second or casting vote.

21. Quorum.

No business shall be transacted at any Representative Meeting unless there be present at least one-half the number of Representatives appointed to attend such Meeting.

COUNCIL.

22. Composition.

The Council shall come into office on the first day of the Annual Meeting, and shall be composed of the Officers and ex-Officer named as Members of the Council, ex officio, in Article XXXVIII. of the foregoing Regulations, together with the Members duly elected or appointed by the Branches and other bodies authorised by the By-laws to elect or appoint Members of the Council, and of Members annually co-opted by the Council in manner hereinafter provided. The Council may also elect, if it think fit, at any of its meetings all or any one of the following, namely: One medical officer on the active or retired list of each of the following services: The Royal Navy Medical Service, the Royal Army Medical Service, and the Indian Medical Service, provided that in each case such medical officer shall not have retired from the active list more than three years previously.

23. Branch Representation.

Any Branch, or group of Branches, having an aggregate membership of not less than 200 may elect one Member of Council, and any Branch or group of Branches having an aggregate membership of not less than 400 may elect two Members of Council, and an additional member for each complete 600 Members in excess of 400. Branches in the United Kingdom having less than 200 Members shall be grouped for this purpose with neighbouring Branches, unless in the opinion of the Council the special conditions of any such Branch justify the grant of separate representation. The grouping of Branches not within the United Kingdom for the purpose of electing Members of Council shall be determined by the Council provided that the total number of Members of Council whom such Branches are entitled to elect shall not be less in proportion to the total membership thereof than those elected by the Branches in the United Kingdom.

24. Election of Representative Members of Council by Branches.

The elective Members of Council shall be elected by voting papers sent to each elector by post, the said voting papers containing the names of those candidates who have been nominated each by a Division or in writing to the Secretary of a Branch by such number of Members, not less than three, as the Branch may by its Rules prescribe, on or before an appointed day of which not less than fourteen days' notice has been given in the Journal.

25. Term of Office of Branch Representatives (United Kingdom).

Each Member of Council elected by a Branch in the United Kingdom shall be elected for one year, and at the end of that time shall be eligible for re-election unless he have served as such Member of Council for six years successively, in which case he shall for one year be ineligible for election as such Member of Council.

26. Term of Office of Members elected by Branches, not within the United Kingdom, or by the Services.

Each Member of Council elected by a Branch not in the United Kingdom, or by the Royal Navy Medical Service, the Army Medical Service, or the Indian Medical Service, shall be elected for such period, not exceeding three years, as the electing Branch or Body may determine, and at the expiration of such period shall be eligible for re-election, provided that no such Member shall be re-elected so as to make his period of continuous service as a representative Member of Council exceed eight years.

27. Qualification.

No person shall be eligible for election as a Member of Council by a Branch in the United Kingdom unless at the time of his election he shall be a Member of such Branch. The eligibility for election as a Member of Council by a Branch not in the United Kingdom, shall be such as may be determined by the Rules of the said Branch, and if no such rule shall be adopted the regulations as to eligibility shall be the same as for the Branches in the United Kingdom.

28. Election Return.

The return of the election of each elective Member of Council shall be communicated in writing to the Secretary of the Association by the President or Secretary of the Branch by which he is elected not less than twenty-eight days prior to the Annual General Meeting of the Association.

29. Powers of incomplete Council.

In default of and until election of a Member or Members by any Branch or other Body authorised to elect, or so far as such election shall not be complete, all the powers conferred on the Council shall belong to and be exercised by the ex officio Members thereof alone, or by the ex officio Members and such other Members of the Council as may have been duly elected by any Branch or Branches or other Bodies authorised to elect.

30. Vacancies.

Any casual vacancy occurring in the Council, not less than four months before the Annual General Meeting, may be filled up by any Branch or body the representation of which may have become vacant, and such election shall be conducted in the same manner as the Annual election, or, in respect of election by a Branch, in such other manner as may be prescribed by the Rules of the said Branch. Any person so chosen shall retain his office so long only as the Member in respect of whom such casual vacancy may have occurred would have retained the same.

31. Co-opted Members.

The Council shall have power each year to add to its own number Members in the proportion of one for every complete ten representative Members elected to serve on the Council for that year. Each such co-opted Member shall vacate such office at the close of the last meeting of the Council for the year, but shall be eligible for reappointment, unless he shall have been appointed in each of the last five years, in which case he shall be ineligible for the ensuing twelve months.

32. Council Proceedings.

The Council shall meet not less than four times a year, and shall be presided over by the Chairman of the Council, or in his absence by a Chairman to be appointed by the meeting. Its meetings shall be held at such time and place as the Council shall appoint. Fifteen Members shall form a Quorum.

33. Special Meeting.

The Chairman of Council may, if he think fit, and shall, upon receiving a requisition signed by not less than fifteen Members of the Council and specifying the business for which a Special Meeting is required, call together a Special Meeting thereof. No business shall be transacted at a Special Meeting other than that for which such Meeting is called.

34. Reports.

The Council shall annually prepare a Balance Sheet and Financial Statement of the Association for the past year, to be presented to the Annual General Meeting of the Association, and an Estimate of the probable income and expenditure of the Association for the coming year, and a Report of the general state and proceedings of the Association for the past year to be presented to the Annual Representative Meeting. A copy of such Statement, Estimate and Report shall be sent to the Secretary of every Branch and Division and published in the Journal not less than two months before the Annual Meeting.

In addition to the above-mentioned Report the Council shall have power to present to any Annual Representative Meeting such further Report or Reports as it may deem advisable, and the same shall be published in the Journal if time permits.

35. General Powers.

The Council shall, in addition to the powers and authorities by the Articles and By-laws expressly conferred on it, exercise all such powers and do all such acts or things as may be exercised or done by the Association, and are not by Statute or by the Articles or By-laws expressly directed or required to be exercised or done by the Association in General Meeting or by a Representative Meeting, subject nevertheless to the provisions of the Statutes and to the Regulations and By-laws of the Association and to the instructions contained in those Resolutions of General or Representative Meetings which by the Articles are declared to be deemed decisions of the Association.

OFFICERS.

36. President, President-Elect and Past-President.

The President of the Association shall be elected annually at the Annual General Meeting and shall enter upon the duties of his office at the next Annual Meeting, and until then shall bear the title of President-Elect. At the expiration of his year of office as President he shall be designated Past-President and shall hold office as such for one year.

37. Treasurer.

The Treasurer shall be elected by the Annual General Meeting and shall hold office for three years. He shall receive the subscriptions and other monies payable to the Association and discharge all accounts which have been ordered by the Council to be paid.

38. Vice-Presidents.

The Council shall have power to nominate for election by the Annual General Meeting those Members who by their services to the Association are in the opinion of the Council worthy of election as Vice-Presidents. Such election shall be for life unless any appointment shall be subsequently cancelled by a vote of the Association in General Meeting assembled on a motion brought forward by the Council. No special privilege shall attach to the office of Vice-President.

COMMITTEES.

39. Appointment.

Subject to the Regulations and By-laws of the Association, the Council and the Representative Meeting shall respectively have power to appoint Committees with such powers as may to them seem necessary or convenient and to fix the quorum thereof, and lay down Rules for regulating the proceedings of such Committees.

40. Standing Committees.

Nevertheless, there shall be Standing Committees as follow :—

(1) Journal and Finance.

A Journal and Finance Committee not exceeding fifteen in number (five to form a quorum) shall be appointed by the Council, which shall, inter alia, examine into the general working of the Office and of the Journal, and certify the quarterly accounts prior to their being presented to the Council.

(2) Premises and Library.

A Premises and Library Committee not exceeding nine in number (three to form a quorum) shall be appointed by the Council, to which shall be referred all matters connected with the Library and its management, as well as the management of the House Property of the Association.

(3) Public Health.

A Public Health Committee not exceeding nine in number (three to form a quorum) shall be appointed by the Council, to which shall specially be referred all questions relating to Public Health and the Poor Law Medical Service.

(4) Colonial.

A Colonial Committee not exceeding nine in number (three to form a quorum) shall be appointed, to which shall be referred all questions specially relating to the Branches not in the United Kingdom. Of such Committee five members shall be appointed by the Representatives of these Branches on the Council, and two by the Council.

(5) Naval and Military.

A Royal Naval and Military Committee not exceeding nine in number (three to form a quorum) shall be appointed by the Council, to which shall be referred all matters relating to the Royal Navy Medical Service, the Army Medical Service, the Indian Medical Service, and the Medical Organisation of the Auxiliary Forces. Such Committee to include the Representative Members of these Services who are on the Council.

(6) Medico-Political.

A Medico-Political Committee shall be appointed consisting of sixteen Members (seven to form a quorum) which shall deal with all matters involving the public relations of the Profession not specially referred to other Committees, and shall be composed of the Chairman of Representative Meeting, the Treasurer, ex officio, and twelve other Members, all of whom shall be appointed by the Council, until the first Representative Meeting, and thereafter six of such Members shall be appointed by the Council, and six by the Representative Meeting. Such Committee to report to the Council and to the Representative Meeting, to act under the Council, and to have the services of a salaried officer.

(7) Ethical.

An Ethical Committee (otherwise designated the Central Ethical Committee) shall be appointed consisting of twelve members (five to form a quorum) which shall advise the Council on proposed Rules of Divisions and Branches relating to professional conduct, shall investigate and report to the Council upon the cases of Members whose conduct is to be considered by the Council, shall adjudicate in cases of disputes on ethical questions referred to it by Members of the Association, and generally shall advise, and, where so directed, act for the Council, on all questions of Professional conduct. Until the first Representative Meeting such Committee shall be appointed by the Council, and thereafter five members of such Committee shall be appointed by the Council and five by the Representative Meeting. This Committee shall have the services of a salaried officer.

(8) Organisation.

An Organisation Committee shall be appointed by the Council, not exceeding nine in number (three to form a quorum), which, subject to the directions of the Council, shall deal with all questions of the boundaries or area of Divisions and Branches, and the Rules thereof other than those relating to ethical matters, and advise the Council thereon, and shall exercise such powers as may be conferred upon it by the Council in advising and assisting Divisions or Branches in the strengthening of their organisation. This Committee shall have power to add to its number, for special purposes, a limited number of Members specially qualified to assist in its work. This Committee shall have the services of a salaried officer.

(9) Scottish Committee.

A Scottish Committee, consisting of one Secretary from each Scottish Branch and the Scottish Members of the Central Council. It shall have a Secretary, resident in Scotland, and shall meet at such place and time as the Committee may itself direct, and shall report to the Council on any matters specially concerning Scotland.

(10) Irish Committee.

An Irish Committee, consisting of the Irish Members of the Central Council, one Secretary from each Irish Branch, and one Member elected by each Branch; provided that, in the case of the Leinster and Ulster Branches, such elected Members shall be practitioners not resident either in Dublin or Belfast, and provided that, in the event of the Secretary of a Branch being also a Member of the Central Council, such Branch shall have power to elect a further Member of the Committee.

41. Chairman of Committees.

Each Standing Committee shall appoint from its own number a Member of Council as Chairman.

42. Salaried Officers.

All salaried officers shall be appointed by the Council, and, subject to the Articles and By-laws, shall hold office for such period and perform such duties and receive such remuneration as the Council may from time to time determine.

43. Rules of Committees.

Every Committee is to conform to such rules, whether general or special, as the body appointing it may make in regard thereto.

44. Omission to give Notice.

The accidental omission to give any notice required by the By-laws is not to invalidate the proceedings.

45. Interpretation.

In these By-laws the expression "the By-laws" means the By-laws of the Association for the time being in force.

APPENDIX TO BY-LAWS.

APPLICATION FOR ELECTION TO THE BRITISH MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

The attention of Members of the Medical Profession who are desirous of joining the British Medical Association is directed to the following extracts from the Memorandum of Association and Articles and By-laws :

MEMORANDUM.

Paragraph 3.—The objects for which the Association is established are : The promotion of Medical and the Allied Sciences and the maintenance of the Honour and the Interests of the Medical profession.

Article III.—Any Medical Practitioner registered in the United Kingdom under the Medical Acts and any Medical Practitioner residing within the area of any Branch of the Association situate in any part of the British Empire other than the United Kingdom, who is so registered or possesses such medical qualifications as shall, subject to the Regulations, be prescribed by the Rules of the said Branch, shall be eligible as a Member of the Association. The mode and conditions of election to Membership shall from time to time be determined by or in accordance with the By-laws. Every Member, whether one of the existing Members or a subsequently elected Member, shall remain a Member until he ceases to be a Member in accordance with the provisions hereof.

By-law 1.—Every Candidate for Membership of the Association shall apply for election in writing, addressed to the Association, and stating his agreement, if elected, to abide by the Regulations and By-laws of the Association, and the Rules of such Division and Branch to which he may at any time belong, and to pay his subscription for the current year.

2. Every candidate who resides within the area of a Branch shall forward his application to the Secretary of such Branch. Notice of the proposed election shall be sent by the Branch Secretary to the General Secretary of the Association, and to every Member of the Branch Council, and the candidate, if not disqualified by any Regulation of the Association, may be elected a Member of the Association by the Branch Council at any meeting thereof held not less than seven days (or such longer period as the Branch may by its Rules prescribe) after the date of the said Notice. A Branch may by special Resolution require that each candidate for election to the Association shall furnish a certificate from two Members of the Association, to whom he is personally known. Officers of the Navy, Army and Indian Medical Service on the Active List are eligible for election through the Council or a Branch without approving signatures as laid down in By-law 3.
3. Every candidate whose place of residence is not included in the area of any Branch shall forward his Application to the General Secretary of the Association, together with a statement signed by three Members of the Association, that from personal knowledge they consider him a suitable person for election. Notice of the proposed election shall be sent by the General Secretary to every Member of the Council, and the candidate, if not disqualified by any Regulation of the Association, may be elected a Member of the Association by the Council at any meeting thereof held not less than one month after the date of the said Notice.

Article VII.—As from the 1st January, 1903, and except as hereinafter mentioned every Member shall pay to the Association an Annual Subscription of twenty-five shillings, or of such greater amount, not exceeding thirty shillings, as the Council may from time to time in accordance with the By-laws determine, and the said subscription shall be considered due in advance on the 1st January, in each year. In the case of a Member admitted after the 1st July in any year, the subscription for that year shall be one-half the current annual subscription, and shall be due in advance on the day of election. The subscription shall be paid by each Member to such officer of the Association, or of any recognised local Body thereof, as may be appointed by the By-laws of the Association for the time being to receive the same. Each year's subscription shall entitle the Member to all privileges of Membership of the Association, including that of receiving the Journal for the current year, and to the ordinary privileges, as defined by the Regulations for the time being, of Membership of that Division and of that Branch of which he is an Ordinary Member.

Article VIII.—Any Member whose subscription shall not have been paid on or before the 31st December of the current year shall, without prejudice to his liability to the Association, be suspended from all privileges of Membership, and at the end of the succeeding year, if the arrears be still unpaid, he shall, ipso facto, cease to be a Member. No Member shall (except in case of his death or expulsion, or of his ceasing to be a Member under the previous provisions of this Article) cease to be a Member without having given previous notice, in writing, of his intention in that behalf on or before the 1st December in the current year to the Secretary of the Association, and having paid all arrears of subscription (if any) due from him.

For the Annual Subscription to the Association, the British Medical Journal is supplied weekly to duly elected Members post free.

FORM OF BEQUEST.

Persons who desire to benefit the Association by legacies are recommended to adopt the following :—

I give and bequeath unto the British Medical Association the sum of £ [free of duty], to be applicable for the general purposes of the Association, and to be paid out of such portion of my personal estate not specifically bequeathed, as the law permits to be appropriated by will to such a purpose ; and I declare that the receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the Association shall be a sufficient discharge for such legacy.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE ASSOCIATION.

THE British Medical Association was founded at Worcester on July 19th, 1832, being originally designated the "Provincial Medical and Surgical Association."

On that day, fifty medical men attended a meeting at the Worcester Infirmary, convened by Dr. (afterwards Sir) Charles Hastings, to consider the formation of the proposed Association. Dr. Edward Johnstone, of Birmingham, presided, and after an address by Dr. Hastings on the objects contemplated, it was unanimously resolved that an Association should be formed; a code of laws was adopted, and Officers elected. Dr. Johnstone was elected President for the year 1832-3, and Dr. Hastings and Mr. J. P. Sheppard joint Secretaries and Editors of the Transactions. The Association began with a membership of 140.

The address delivered by Dr. Hastings, an address which the Association adopted by determining that it should form an introductory article to the first volume of the Transactions, indicates the conception of its objects with which the Association was founded, and is therefore of great interest for comparison with subsequent declarations of the kind.

Dr. Hastings referred to the disadvantages under which English provincial medical men then laboured, on account, as he suggested, of want of co-operation and, in particular, that they did not hold the rank and influence in the community to which they might aspire, and which the Association might enable them to attain.

After pointing to the avidity with which the proposal for such a Society had been received as an omen favourable to the undertaking, Dr. Hastings outlined the work which it was hoped that the Association might accomplish under the following general heads:—

- (1) Advancement of Medical Science: generally by the collection of useful information, by means of original essays and reports of hospitals and similar institutions and of private practice; (a) medical topography, (b) the investigation of endemic and epidemic disease, and (c) medico-legal science, were indicated as subjects specially suitable to receive attention from the Association.
- (2) "The maintenance of the honour and respectability of the profession by promoting friendly intercourse and free communication of its members." Under this head, with regard to Medical Ethics, attention was drawn to the fact "that, with the exception of a few essays, no attempt had been made to establish a code for guidance of those needing such direction. In a well-organised profession, there could be no difficulty in adapting to its exigencies the doctrines of general ethics." With reference to Medical Politics, attention was called to the fact "that the organisation of the profession which obtained was not what it ought to be; the whole system of medical polity in this country was both defective and erroneous. Opinions differed widely as to the evils and remedies, but few commended the existing state of things. This subject was closely connected with the advancement of science; for, if the profession were constituted as it ought to be, the harmony that would be established could not fail to be a direct means of more cordial and efficient co-operation in extending the science and improving the practice of medicine."

At the first Annual Meeting, held at Bristol, on July 19th, 1833, it was announced that the number of members had increased to 316. Nearly 200 attended the meeting. The meeting appointed certain members to prepare reports on the Present State of Knowledge of Anatomy and on the Chemistry of Animal Fluids, as illustrative of Pathology. It was resolved to found a fund out of which prizes might be given for essays on medical subjects. Questions on Vaccination were ordered to be circulated and a Committee was appointed to report on the replies. The Registration of the Causes of Death formed the subject of an address from the meeting to a Committee of the House of Commons then sitting.

At the second Annual Meeting, held at Birmingham, on July 18th, 1834, 250 members were present, out of a total membership of 450. In pursuance of the instructions of the previous meeting Mr. Jennings, of Leamington, presented a report on the Chemistry of the Blood, as illustrated by Pathology, and Mr. Thomas Turner, of Manchester, on the Present State of Knowledge of Anatomy. Committees were appointed (a) to consider the formation of a Library, and (b) to consider the establishment of a Medical Benevolent Fund.

The third Annual Meeting, held at Oxford, on July 23rd, 1835, was attended by more than 300 persons, the membership of the Association being then 500. A Committee was appointed to consider the best means of affording Medical Relief to the Sick Poor.

The fourth Annual Meeting was held at Manchester, on July 21st, 1836. The number of members of the Association was reported to be 600. Formation of the first Branch.—The Eastern Provincial Medical and Surgical Association which had been founded at a meeting held at Bury St. Edmunds, in the previous September, sent a deputation to the meeting, and a joint Committee of the two Associations was appointed to consider the possibility of fusion. Subsequently it was arranged that the Eastern Association should dissolve as a separate body, and that its members should become members of the Provincial Medical and Surgical Association, and be constituted a Branch thereof. Laws relating to Branches were drawn up by the Council and adopted at the following Annual Meeting. Among the provisions of these Laws were (a) that By-laws of Branches should be submitted to the Council of the Association for approval; (b) that all Branch Officers should be ex officio members of the General Council (by which the "Executive Council" was appointed); (c) Branch expenses to be defrayed from Central Funds up to a maximum of one-seventh of the Annual subscription (one guinea) per member. The Committee on the Benevolent Fund reported in favour of the adoption of a Benevolent Fund, but against that of a Benefit (i.e., Provident) Fund. The Committee on Poor Law Medical Relief presented a report on which was based a petition to both Houses of Parliament on the subject. In the introduction of the Report occurs the following passage, here quoted as a statement of principles underlying the public relations of the Profession, which the Association has throughout its subsequent history been striving, and is still striving, to maintain.

"The Legislature has wisely and humanely determined that no person shall perish for want of the necessities of life. Among these necessities, it has invariably reckoned medical and surgical relief; and it has created, by means of the poor rates, a fund for this, among other purposes.

"The question is, therefore, already decided—that one portion of the community must provide another portion, when sick, with medical attendance. No one has a right to say that the duty of providing these exigencies shall fall exclusively, or in undue proportion, on the medical profession. Medical men, as private individuals, contribute their quota of the public burdens; they cannot, therefore, be required to bear, in addition to their own, that share of these burdens which belongs equally to the rest of the community.

"Your Committee are aware that the vast amount of gratuitous medical assistance that has been at all times afforded to the needy by all grades of the profession throughout the country (an amount that could not be conceived by those who were not informed on the subject) has been productive, at least, of one very injurious effect; it has induced the unthinking portion of the public to conclude that there was some sort of conventional, if not legal, obligation on the medical profession to attend, without reward, to the ailments of the poor. This kind of misapprehension, or ignorance, of the real state of the case, has doubtless been the source of many recent grievances.

"It is, therefore, worthy of consideration, whether it does not become the duty of the profession to prove the fallacy of this popular notion, by some limitation and greater discrimination in the supply of their gratuitous advice; by resisting all attempts to convert their spontaneous benevolence into a forced enactment; and by demanding a proper remuneration from those who are bound, not only by the dictates of a rational humanity, but by the laws of the country, to provide the necessary assistance for the destitute sufferers."

At the Fifth Annual Meeting, held at Cheltenham, on July 19th and 20th, 1837, the number of members was reported to be 940. The Rules relating to Branches were, as already stated, adopted, and it was reported that Branches had been formed at Bath, Wells and Southampton. An address of homage to Queen Victoria, who had just ascended the throne, was unanimously adopted and ordered to be presented. A Committee was appointed to determine the subject for medical essays for a prize of £50 offered by Dr. Thackeray of Chester. A Committee was also appointed to draw up a report on the replies received to a series of questions on the Spread of Influenza. Resolutions were adopted;—(a) that members of the Association, in their several localities, should urge upon members of Parliament the importance of enlightened consideration of Public Health questions then pending; (b) that members should lend their aid to carry into effect the recent Births and Deaths Registration Act; (c) appointing a Committee to draw up tabular forms for statistical records of disease. Lastly, a Medical Reform Committee was appointed "to watch over the interests of the profession at large," in view of the importance of questions then pending. The work of this Committee had a considerable influence on the evolution of the first Medical Act.

The above summary of the work of the first five years' history of the Association has been given to illustrate the view which the founders of the Association took of the scope of its work.

As space does not allow subsequent events to be related in such detail, only the more important dates of the internal history of the Association are hereafter stated.

In 1843 the membership was 1,628.

In 1847-48 laws were considered and adopted providing (a) for the expulsion of members guilty of unprofessional conduct; (b) for payment of the subscription in advance, and to deprive those in arrear of privileges of membership.

In 1853 the membership was 1,853.

In the years 1854 to 1856 reform of the constitution was undertaken, and in the result:—

(a) The title was altered to British Medical Association.

(b) The Council was made strictly representative, being elected by the Branches in the proportion of one member of Council for every twenty members together with the Honorary Secretary of every Branch ex officio.

The "General Council" so constituted appointed the "Executive Council," or, as it was henceforward called, the "Committee of Council."

In 1862 the Annual Meeting of the Association was first held in London. The membership of the Association was then 2,120.

In 1867 the Association first met in Ireland, namely, at Dublin. The Scientific Business of the Annual Meeting was for the first time arranged in Sections, of which there were four, namely:—Medicine, Physiology, Surgery, and Midwifery.

At this meeting a step forward was also taken in the Medico-Political organisation of the Association. Work of this kind had previously been carried on by Committees appointed ad hoc for each special subject that arose. At the Annual Meeting of 1867 a grant was authorised to the Parliamentary Bills Committee (constituted in 1864) of the Metropolitan Counties Branch, on the condition that each Branch of the Association should henceforth elect one member of the Committee, which thus became the Parliamentary Bills Committee of the Association.

At the Annual Meeting of 1869 a Committee was appointed to consider the Regulations of the Association, and, as the outcome of several years' deliberations the Association was incorporated, in 1874, under the Companies' Acts. The Constitution then adopted was modified in 1882 by abolishing the "Committee of Council," and making the Council more Representative of the Branches. Subject to these changes it remained in force until 1902.

At the Annual Meeting of 1900, at Ipswich, a Committee was appointed to consider and report, first to the Branches, and subsequently to the Annual General Meeting, on the changes required in the Constitution.

The scheme prepared by this Committee was approved, subject to a few minor changes, by the Annual General Meeting of 1901 at Cheltenham, and a further Committee appointed to supervise the preparation of new Articles of Association and By-laws to give effect to the scheme.

The Articles and By-laws so prepared were adopted by Special Resolution on July 9th, 1902, and are those now in force, subject to certain amendments of details of the By-laws, which have been subsequently adopted in the manner provided in the constitution. (For present Articles and By-laws see pages 36, 49.)

In 1875 the membership of the Association was 6,112.

" 1885 " " " " 11,249.

" 1895 " " " " 16,000.

" 1905 " " " " 19,582.

CONSTITUTION OF THE ASSOCIATION.

I. GENERAL DESCRIPTION.

THE British Medical Association, under its present constitution, is a federation of local medical societies, called Divisions. The Divisions are grouped for certain purposes in local bodies, called Branches. The aggregate of Branches composes the Association.

Each Division and Branch has its own local administration and rules, subject only to such restrictions upon each as are deemed needful for the harmonious co-operation of all.

The Divisions and Branches are linked together in the Association by the following means:—

- (a) Every member of a Division is a member of the Association, and conversely every member of the Association is a member of the Division in whose area he resides.
- (b) The whole Association is subject to certain general regulations, defined in the Memorandum of Association, Articles of Association, and By-laws.
- (c) The governing bodies of the whole Association are;—for certain specific purposes, the General Meeting of the Members, in which every member is entitled to take part;—and for all other purposes, the Representative Meeting, in which every member, through his Division, is entitled to be represented.
- (d) The Association has a Central Executive, consisting of a representative Council, and Committees.

- (e) The whole Association has an official organ, the British Medical Journal, published under the control of the Council.
- (f) A uniform subscription of 25s. is paid by every member and entitles to all ordinary privileges of membership, both of the Association and of any Division and Branch to which a member may at any time belong.

II. THE DIVISIONS.

(1) Constitution.

A Division is composed of the entire body of members of the Association who reside within the recognized boundaries of the Division. The boundaries of Divisions are defined, and may from time to time be modified, by the Central Council, advised by the Organisation Committee.

The chief object of the Division being to afford opportunities for medical practitioners to meet in friendly intercourse and for the consideration of their common affairs, the Council, in determining the boundaries of Divisions, has regard primarily to the convenience of members in attending meetings, and is guided, therefore, principally by the wishes of members themselves, so far as these can be ascertained.

(2) Government and Administration.

Each Division is governed (a) by the General Regulations of the Association; (b) by such Rules as it may think proper to adopt. Rules of Divisions are subject to the approval of the Central Council, but this in practice is exercised only:—(a) To secure conformity with the Regulations of the Association; (b) To suggest such provisions as the Council may think conducive to the harmonious working of the Association; (c) To secure that Rules adopted with reference to matters of professional conduct, and for the maintenance of the honour of the profession locally, shall have been approved by such majorities as shall afford reasonable assurance that such Rules have the general sanction of those who are to be bound thereby.

Each Division appoints its own officers and committees, arranges its own meetings, and in every way manages its own affairs, subject to the foregoing reservations as to Rules, and subject also to the following provisions:—(a) To maintain touch between the parts of the Association, the representative of the Division in Representative Meetings of the Association, and the representative or representatives of the Division in the Council of the Branch to which it belongs, are ex officio members of the Executive Committee of the Division; (b) The Branch Council, in which each constituent Division is represented, elects new members of the Association; (c) The Branch Council, out of monies granted to the Branch from the Central funds, makes such grant to the Division as it may deem necessary to defray the expenses thereof; (d) Expulsion of members rests with the Central Council acting on representations made by the Branch, or outside the United Kingdom, rests with the Branch absolutely.

(3) Work of the Divisions.

The work of the Divisions has a two-fold aspect ; looking on the one hand to the direct benefit of its own members, and on the other hand to the part to be taken by the Division in the common work of the Association. As the individual members are united for their common benefit, for the advancement among themselves of medical science, and for the maintenance of the honour and interests of the profession, locally, in the Division, so are the Divisions in turn united in the Association to co-operate for the general good of the Association and of the medical profession.

In considering the work of the Divisions under these two heads in detail, it will be found that for both purposes the Division will act mainly through general meetings of its members. Hence the importance assigned, in the determination of the boundaries of a Division, to the consideration of railway and other means of communication, so that the members of a Division may be able to attend its meetings without undue loss of time.

The local work of the Division may have regard to any or all of the following objects:—

- (a) To promote, by its meetings and in every way, union and good professional relations among the members of the medical profession within its area.
- (b) To afford to its members opportunities for discussing questions of medical science and kindred subjects, and to promote, by this and other means, the advancement of professional knowledge and skill.
- (c) To assist the members of the Division in maintaining a standard of professional honour.
- (d) To maintain locally the interests of the profession, and to represent the profession in its relations with public bodies.

The extent to which each Division will undertake each of these duties rests with the Division, but in every such undertaking the Division has the advantage, over independent local medical societies, of the assistance and support of the entire British Medical Association.

III. THE BRANCHES.

(1) Constitution.

The Divisions are in general grouped to form Branches. For symmetry of organisation those Divisions which do not find it convenient to be associated with others in a Branch, have the title and powers of a Branch in conjunction with those of a Division. Thus a Branch is composed of one or more Divisions, the grouping being effected by the Council, advised by the Organisation Committee, and acting upon the wishes of those directly concerned as far as these wishes can be ascertained.

(2) Government and Administration of Branches.

The Branch, like the Division, adopts its own Rules, subject to the same reservations as in the case of the Division. The Branch also elects its own officers, and, alone or in conjunction with other Branches, elects a representative or representatives on the Central Council.

Of the annual subscription of 25s. paid by every member to the Association, 4s. is paid from the Central funds to the Branch of which he is a member, and out of these grants the Branches defray their own working expenses and those of the Divisions.

The Branch Officers and representatives on the Central Council, are members of the Executive, the Branch Council, of which the other members are elected by the Divisions in proportion to their membership.

For most purposes of administration the Branch Council acts for the Branch. In particular the election of new members, and the control of the finances of the Branch and its Divisions, rest with the Branch Council. In a Branch composed of more than one Division it is difficult, on account of the extensive area, to secure a representative attendance at a Branch Meeting, and in such a Branch it is found convenient to entrust to the Branch Council powers and duties which in a Division (and in a Branch composed of only one Division) pertain rather to the General Meeting.

(3) Work of the Branch (Locally).

Apart from the important administrative work of the Branch Council, the object of the Branch is to assist and extend the work of its Divisions in such degree as the members may desire; to promote gatherings, for social and scientific purposes, of members drawn from all the constituent Divisions; and to provide an instrument for common action by the Divisions in questions affecting the honour and interests of the profession.

(4) Central Work of Divisions and Branches.

The part contributed by the Divisions and Branches to the common work of the Association is most conveniently considered in connection with the description of the central organisation.

IV. CENTRAL ORGANISATION.

(1) Constitution.

The British Medical Association is a limited liability company, registered with the Board of Trade as formed not for profit, and having the liability of its subscribers limited by guarantee. As a company it is subject to the Companies' Acts; the objects of the company are defined in the Memorandum of Association; the fundamental Regulations affecting its government and administration are contained in the Articles of Association; and subsidiary Regulations, taking effect under Article XLVII, are contained in the By-laws. (For Memorandum of Association, Articles of Association and By-laws, see pages 33, 36, 49.)

The procedure for changing the Memorandum or Articles of Association is defined by the Companies' Acts. For either of these purposes it is necessary that a resolution should be adopted by a three fourths majority of a General Meeting of Members, and confirmed by a simple majority of a second General Meeting, thus becoming a Special Resolution. To effect an amendment of the Memorandum of Association it is further necessary to obtain the sanction of the High Court.

For an alteration of the By-laws a resolution of an Annual or Special Representative Meeting is requisite, which resolution must have been before the Divisions for three months prior to an Annual Meeting, or for one month prior to a Special Meeting.

In addition to the regulations defined above, it is to be observed that various powers are conferred upon the Council in the exercise of which it may adopt resolutions having the effect of regulations.

Lastly, the Rules adopted by Divisions and Branches, and sanctioned by the Council, are binding upon the members in respect of whom they are made.

(2) Central Government and Administration.

The bodies engaged directly in this work are General Meetings Representative Meetings, the Council, and Committees.

General Meetings.

A General Meeting of the Association is, as its name implies, an assembly in which every member is entitled to take part. Upon it are conferred by the Companies' Acts certain powers which cannot be delegated. These are the alteration of the Memorandum or Articles of Association, as above described, the passing of the Annual Balance Sheet, and the appointment of auditors. The two duties last mentioned are performed by the Annual General Meeting, which is convened every year at a place determined by the previous Annual General Meeting, and at a time determined by the Council. The Annual General Meeting also, under the Articles of Association, elects the President, Vice-Presidents, and Treasurer of the Association, and elects Honorary Members on the recommendation of the Council.

The quorum of a General Business Meeting is 100.

As part of the Annual General Meeting are held Sectional General Meetings, for the consideration of matters pertaining to the medical and allied sciences. The officers of Sections are appointed by the Council, which also has the duty of framing the regulations by which the proceedings are governed.

It is the practice of the Association that the President should inaugurate his year of office by an Address to the Annual General Meeting of the Association, and Addresses in Medicine, Surgery, Obstetrics, or kindred subjects are also given on this occasion by distinguished Members of the profession who are appointed for the purpose by the Council.

Representative Meetings.

The Representative Meeting is composed of Representatives elected annually, not more than three months, nor less than three weeks before the Annual Meeting, by each Division, or group of Divisions, of at least fifty members. The demarcation of Constituencies for this purpose, restricted to 300 in all, is made by the Council. (For list of Representatives present at Leicester, see page 31.)

The Annual Representative Meeting is held at the time of the Annual General Meeting, but so as not to conflict therewith: a Special Representative Meeting is convened by the Council on its own motion, or on a requisition from three Constituencies, fourteen days' notice being required.

Any Representative Meeting may amend the By-laws of the Association, or adopt any Resolution, of which due notice has been given, affecting the honour or interests of the Association or of the medical profession. Three months' notice is required of motions brought before the Annual, one month before a Special, Representative Meeting.

The Annual Representative Meeting, in addition to the business already described, elects the Chairman of Representative Meetings, who holds office for one year and is ex officio a Member of Council, elects half the Members of the Medico-Political and Ethical Committees, may appoint Special Committees, receives the Annual and other Reports of the Council and the financial estimates for the coming year, and the Annual Reports of such Committees as it appoints.

A Representative must vote on any matter coming before a Representative Meeting in conformity with such Resolution, if any, as his Constituency may have adopted on the subject during the preceding three months. A vote by card, instead of by show of hands, must be taken if demanded by at least twenty representatives present, in which case each representative has as many votes as there are members in his constituency.

The quorum of a Representative Meeting is half the number of representatives elected to serve in it.

The first class travelling expenses of representatives attending the Annual Representative Meeting are defrayed by the Association.

The Council.

The Council is composed of certain officers of the Association, of members elected by the Branches, of members appointed to represent the Navy, Army, and Indian Medical Services, and of members, to the number of not more than one-tenth the elected members, co-opted by the Council. The grouping of Branches for the election of members of Council is determined by the Council under By-law 23. (For list of the Council for the year 1905-6, see page 24.)

The Council elects its own Chairman, holding office for such period as the Council may assign (usually three years), and fixes the time and place of its own Meetings, which in practice are held quarterly (and at other times when required) in London, and daily during the Annual Meeting in the place where that is held. The dates of the Meetings of Council for 1906 will be found in the Calendar.

The Council, subject to the Regulations of the Association, and the decisions of General and Representative Meetings, has the general management of the affairs of the Association, including the Journal, and appoints the paid officers. It determines the boundaries of Divisions and Branches, and under certain conditions the grouping for electoral purposes. It elects new members, if not residing within the area of any Branch, nominates Honorary Members for election by the General Meeting, and has the power of expulsion on the recommendation of a Branch. Rules of Divisions and Branches are not valid until sanctioned by the Council.

The Council fixes the time of the Annual Meeting, controls the general arrangements for General and Representative Meetings, and has entire control of the scientific work of the Meeting, including the appointment of readers of addresses and officers of sections, and the determination of the programme of the sections.

Matters come before the Council, (a) on instructions from General or Representative Meetings, (b) on the report of a Committee, or (c) on the motion of a member of Council, of which motion, unless deemed urgent, fourteen days' notice shall have been given (except during the Annual Meeting).

The first class travelling expenses of members of Council attending a meeting thereof are defrayed by the Association.

Committees.

Committees are appointed by the Representative Meeting, or by the Council, or by these bodies jointly. Certain Standing Committees are constituted by the By-laws. Committees report to the body or bodies by which they are appointed. The Chairman of a Committee is appointed by the Committee, and in the case of a Standing Committee must be a member of Council. The President of the Association and Chairman of Council are ex officio members of all Committees of the Association. (For list of Committees for the year 1905-6, see page 25.)

The first class travelling expenses of members of every Committee attending a meeting thereof are defrayed by the Association.

In general, matters are decided by the Council after reference to a Committee, and in certain cases such reference is compulsory, either under the By-laws or under the standing orders of the Council. The Chairman of Council, under the standing orders, has power in the interval between Council Meetings to refer any matter that is to come before the Council to the appropriate Committee.

In particular, no question involving expenditure is determined by the Council until it has been reported on by the Journal and Finance Committee. Questions of boundaries of Divisions and Branches, or grouping for electoral purposes, and of Rules, not relating to ethical matters, are reported on by the Organisation Committee. The Ethical Committee reports on ethical Rules, and generally on all questions of professional conduct. The Medico-Political Committee reports on all questions, not specially referred to other Committees, affecting the relations of the profession to the public. The two Committees last named report to the Annual Representative Meeting, as well as to the Council.

The fixed dates of meetings, for the year 1906, of the four Committees named, will be found in the calendar, together with the dates on or before which matters which are expected to require the consideration of specific committees should be notified to the Secretary.

V. A GENERAL REVIEW OF THE COLLECTIVE WORK OF THE ASSOCIATION.

The general work of the Association, as conducted by the central bodies just described, with the co-operation of the Divisions and Branches, may be classified under the four heads of social, scientific, ethical, and medico-political.

(1) Social.

To draw together medical men in meetings is not only the means whereby the scientific and other ends of the Association are achieved, but is an end in itself, to which great importance is attached. The chief organised agencies by which the Association seeks to promote friendly intercourse among members of the profession are the meetings of Divisions and Branches, the Annual Meeting of the Association, and the Journal which is received by every member.

(2) Scientific.

The Association endeavours to promote the advancement of medical knowledge through the following agencies :—

- (i) The separate or combined meetings of Divisions and Branches.
- (ii) The addresses, and the proceedings of the sections, at the Annual Meeting.
- (iii) The grants made, on the recommendation of the Scientific Grants Committee, in aid of medical research.
- (iv) Special Committees, which are appointed from time to time to conduct special investigations in medical science, the cost thereof being defrayed by the Association.
- (v) The British Medical Journal.

(3) Ethical.

The Association endeavours to assist in maintaining the honour of the profession by the following means :—

- (i) Each Division and Branch adopts such Rules as it may deem necessary, and as may be sanctioned by the Central Council, to regulate the professional conduct of its own members. It is part of the constitution that Rules so made are binding on those members in respect of whom they are made.

- (ii) A Representative Meeting may adopt By-laws, or resolutions (including resolutions approving Reports of the Council or Ethical Committee) which declare the opinion of the Association, and are binding on all members.
- (iii) The Council has power on the recommendation of any Branch (and the Branches external to the United Kingdom have power in themselves as concerning their own members) to expel from the Association any member whose conduct shall, upon inquiry, be deemed to be detrimental to the honour and interests of the medical profession, or calculated to bring the profession into disrepute.
- (iv) In certain circumstances, when misconduct shall have been proved to the satisfaction of judicial bodies outside the Association, offenders automatically cease to be members of the Association.
- (v) The Ethical Committee, which advises or recommends in matters dealt with under heads (i), (ii), (iii) above, also has the duty of arbitrating, when desired, in disputes between members, of deciding other ethical questions referred to it for decision, and of advising and, when so instructed, acting for the Council generally on questions of professional conduct.

N.B.—In many cases questions that come before the Ethical Committee are referred to the Division or Branch to which the member or members concerned belong, for preliminary investigation or for decision.

- (vi) The British Medical Journal, as the official organ of the Association, assists in declaring the ascertained views of the Association on general questions of principle.

(4) Medico-political.

The work undertaken by the Association for the maintenance of the interests of the profession, and also the work done for the advice and assistance of the community on medical questions, may be considered collectively as work concerning the public relations of the profession, and is conducted through the following agencies and in the following way:—

- (i) It is the office of the Divisions and Branches to represent the profession in its relations with the public locally, and to take such measures as may be needful for the maintenance of professional interests within their respective areas. For these purposes they call when necessary upon other Divisions or Branches, and, through the central machinery, upon the general body of the Association, for such assistance as can be given.

Conversely, Divisions and Branches co-operate in the central work by discussing in their meetings subjects under consideration by the Association, and communicating to the Representative Meeting, the Council, or the appropriate Committees, the opinions thus formed; by investigating questions of fact for the information of the Association; and by taking such action in support of the declared policy of the Association as

- they may be requested to take by the Representative Meeting, by the Council, or by a Committee having authority to make such request.
- (ii) The Representative Meeting collects the opinions formed in the Divisions, and formulates resolutions which define the policy of the Association.
 - (iii) The Council, advised by the Medico-Political Committee, and on special questions by special committees, carries out the instructions of the Representative Meeting and, with the Committees, co-ordinates during the year the medico-political work of the Association.
 - (iv) The British Medical Journal disseminates information throughout the Association, affords opportunity for general discussion, and brings the policy of the Association to the notice of the profession and of the public.

In the foregoing accounts the term "Collective work of the Association" means the work of the Association as a whole, determined and administered by the representative bodies and committees appointed for the purpose under the constitution, and by the officers of the Association under the instructions of such bodies. This explanation is given because statements are at times made which appear to indicate that some central body is supposed to exist in the British Medical Association, distinct from the aggregate of Divisions and Branches, and capable of independent action. It is essential that it should be recognized throughout the Association that action lawfully taken in the name of the Association is the expression of the will of the Association, and that the will of the Association, declared by the Representative Meeting as the constitution provides, is simply the resultant will of the Divisions, that is, of those members who take the trouble to take part in the proceedings of the Divisions. The object of the Divisional system is to reduce to the lowest point, consistent with efficiency, the trouble entailed upon members of the Association in taking part in its work. The object of the Central Organisation is to arrive at the collective will, and to give effect thereto as quickly and accurately as possible.

THE ANNUAL MEETING, LEICESTER.

THE Seventy-third Annual Meeting of the Association was held at Leicester on July 24th to July 28th, 1905, under the presidency of Mr. George Cooper Franklin, F.R.C.S.

Members, to the number of 904, recorded their names as attending the Meeting. Of the Council, 46 out of 69 were present.

The Meeting was a marked success, not only on account of the important matters which received the consideration of the Representatives, but by the interesting work carried on in the scientific sections, and for the great hospitality extended by the residents of Leicester to the members of the Association visiting the town.

The subject of the President's Address was "Medical Education—Past, Present, and Future," and it was listened to by a large and interested audience. Before giving his address, the President presented the Gold Medal of Merit to Sir Constantine Holman, M.D.—"For his distinguished services to the British Medical Association, through the South-Eastern Branch, on the Central Council, as Treasurer and as Vice-President. Further, for his life-long and successful labours for the improvement of the financial conditions of the Medical Charities"; and to Mr. Andrew Clark, D.Sc., F.R.C.S.—"For special services rendered to the British Medical Association."

The Address in Medicine was given by Henry Maudsley, M.D., LL.D., F.R.C.P., entitled "Medicine—Present and Prospective," and a vote of thanks to Dr. Maudsley was carried with acclamation.

The Address in Surgery was given by Charles John Bond, F.R.C.S., on "Ascending Currents in Mucous Canals and Gland Ducts, and their Influence on Infection: a Study in Surgical Pathology," and was followed with profound interest by all who were fortunate enough to be present.

A Popular Lecture was delivered by Professor William Stirling, M.D., F.R.S.E., the subject being "Fatigue and Repose," when the Opera House was crowded with an enthusiastic and appreciative audience.

The scientific work of the Meeting was carried on in twelve Sections, namely:—Dental Surgery; Industrial Hygiene and Diseases of Occupation; Laryngology, Otology, and Rhinology; Medicine; Navy, Army, and Ambulance; Obstetrics and Gynaecology; Ophthalmology; Pathology; Psychological Medicine; Surgery; State Medicine; and Tropical Diseases.

The Annual Representative Meeting met for its third annual session, and was presided over by Sir Victor Horsley, F.R.S., the representative of the Marylebone Division, when 123 Representatives out of the 145 returned were present to take part in its deliberations.

The Annual Business Meeting was presided over, in accordance with Article XX, by the Chairman of Council, Dr. H. W. Langley Browne, when an invitation to hold the Annual Meeting at Toronto in 1906 was presented and accepted by the Association. Professor R. A. Reeve, Dean of the University of Toronto, Faculty of Medicine, being nominated President-Elect.

The Balance Sheet for the year ending December 31st, 1904, and printed on page 95 of the Year Book, was submitted to the Meeting and approved. The surplus of receipts over expenditure showed £5,075.

After the Representative Meeting had approved of the establishment of a Superannuation Fund for the Clerical Staff, the members voted a sum of £300 towards this object.

Mr. Andrew Clark completed his three years of office as Chairman of Council, having, in addition, previously served a similar period as Treasurer. Mr. Andrew Clark is succeeded by Dr. H. W. Langley Browne, of West Bromwich.

Dr. E. Markham Skerritt also completed his three years of service as Treasurer, and received the thanks of the Association for the interest he had shown in the welfare of the Association, and was elected a Vice-President for life. Dr. H. Radcliffe Crocker, of London, was elected to succeed Dr. Skerritt.

WORK OF THE YEAR, 1904-5.

Chloroform Committee.

The full report of the work done during the year has been submitted and accepted. It is, in the main, the continuation of that commenced in preceding years. The relative effects of chloroform given in various doses upon the heart muscle, the musculature of the blood vessels and of intestines, and upon striated skeletal muscles, has been investigated. The experiments dealing with the myocardium have been already given in detail. Those undertaken with the other muscular structures showed that the effects were similar, differing, however, in degree—the heart muscle being the most sensitive, the voluntary muscle the least. The initial effect upon skeletal muscle was stimulant, the final depressant; while in the case of the vascular structures primary constriction was followed eventually by diminished activity. In another line of work, the Committee reported the examination of the expired breath of patients inhaling chloroform. By estimating samples of the inspired air laden with chloroform and quantities of that exhaled, an attempt was made to arrive at the actual amount lost in the organism, or, at least, not returned, during the period of inhalation. At first more than half the amount taken into the lungs was breathed out; later the amount of chloroform in the expired air approximated more and more to that in the inspired air. Some slight changes were found advisable in the chloroform inhaler with which the Committee is working, and these, it was thought, remedied the variations in percentage produced by different rates of breathing and other variable factors.

The Colonial Committee.

This Committee has devoted much time to the consideration of Colonial Ordinances having for their object the registration of Medical Practitioners in the Colonies, and has collected through its Colonial Branches valuable information on the subject. The Committee is following up the correspondence with the Colonial Office regarding the expediency of registering in Australia only those medical qualifications which are registrable in the United Kingdom, and has received information from the Colonial Office that a copy of the Committee's recommendation on the subject has been transmitted to the Governors of the States of the Australian Commonwealth for the consideration of their Ministers. In addition replies have been received from certain Australian Branches favouring the scheme. The Committee has also other work on hand which relates to the interests of the Medical Profession in various parts of Great Britain beyond the seas.

Ethical Work.

The work of the Association through the Divisions and Branches, as well as through the Central Ethical Committee, Council, and Representative Meeting, in matters affecting the honour of the profession as regards questions of professional conduct, showed considerable increase during the year under review. The Central Ethical Committee, in its report to the Annual Representative Meeting at Leicester, drew attention also to the increasing appreciation which had been manifested, both within the Association and in the profession generally, of the work now done by the Association in that department with which the Ethical Committee is concerned.

The organisation of the Association for dealing with such questions was improved by the adoption of Rules of procedure, and of Rules for the regulation of the conduct of their own members, by a number of Divisions and Branches. A small code of Rules was compiled early in 1904 from those which had already received the approval of the Central Council. This code was first adopted by the Bradford Division, and was also found applicable to the requirements of many of the Divisions and adopted by them with the approval of the Central Council.

In a special report on Contract Practice, presented to the Annual Representative Meeting, the Ethical and Medico-Political Committees concurred in recommending these Rules to the notice of Divisions as affording a convenient basis for action in all matters relating to appointments.

Ethical Organisation.—The Central Ethical Committee, being of opinion that sufficient experience had then been obtained for the purpose, took into consideration early in 1905, the organisation of the Association, for dealing with ethical matters, and recommended certain improvements in the regulations of the Association and the Rules of Divisions and Branches, which are gradually being carried into effect.

Cases of Proposed Expulsion. Two cases of proposed expulsion of members of the Association were brought under the notice of the Committee during the year. In the first of these it was recommended that the resignation of the member in question, which he had tendered, should be accepted. In the second, the Council, on the recommendation of the Committee, decided that the member in question should be expelled.

Cases for the General Medical Council. The Committee was called upon to consider four cases in which the question arose of bringing the facts to the notice of the General Medical Council, as possibly constituting cases of infamous conduct in a professional respect. Three of these cases related to alleged canvassing or advertising, and one to alleged covering.

In the case of covering, enquiries were instituted by the Association with a view to reporting the case to the General Medical Council, but the practitioner concerned dismissed the unqualified assistant whom he had been employing, and no action, therefore, was taken.

With a view to facilitating prompt action, the Central Council authorised the Ethical Committee to expend a limited sum in the preparation of any such cases for the consideration of the General Medical Council.

One of the cases of advertising had previously been brought to the notice of the General Medical Council and an undertaking given by the offender not to repeat the offence. The attention of the Council was drawn to alleged repetition. In a case of alleged canvassing in connection with a Provident Dispensary, the facts submitted for the consideration of the Central Ethical Committee were not found to be sufficient to justify reporting the case to the General Medical Council at that stage, but the Committee expressed its willingness to bring the matter before the General Medical Council when sufficient evidence should be forthcoming.

In a case of advertising by handbills, the practitioner concerned pleaded ignorance of any professional objection, or objection on the part of the General Medical Council, to such practices, and on consideration of this in conjunction with other cases of a similar nature, the Central Ethical Committee recommended the Council, and the Council resolved, to address a Memorial to the General Medical Council, drawing their attention to the advisability of issuing a general warning notice to the profession respecting canvassing and advertising. After a statement of the circumstances in which the Central Ethical Committee and Council of the Association had thought proper to approach the General Medical Council on the subject, the following suggestions were submitted for the consideration of the General Medical Council:—

- (1) That advertising, including canvassing, by medical practitioners for the purpose of procuring patients is injurious to the interests of the public as well as of the medical profession, and that the disciplinary powers conferred upon the General Medical Council for the public protection, under Section XXIX. of the Medical Act, 1858, would be exercised to the advantage of the community by the Council declaring its disapproval of systematic canvassing and advertising for the purpose of procuring patients, by cards, handbills, newspaper notices or other means;
- (2) That although, as the Association recognises, the General Medical Council possesses no statutory authority to formulate By-laws for the regulation of the medical profession, but can only deal with each case brought before the Council on its merits, nevertheless, the action of the Council in formulating from time to time declaratory resolutions (such as those adopted on November 27th, 1897, and June 6th, 1899, relating respectively to the employment of unqualified assistants, and association with Medical Aid Societies which canvass and advertise), has been of great benefit to the profession, and the present case appears to the Council of the British Medical Association to be one in which those precedent might with advantage be followed :

- (3) That the issue of such a notice would not only be helpful to those medical practitioners who, under present conditions, are actually ignorant of the past decisions of the General Medical Council in cases of canvassing and advertising, and thus inadvertently offend, but would deprive those who deliberately offend of an excuse which they at present put forward.

The General Medical Council took this memorial into its very careful consideration, resulting in the issue, in December, 1927, of the following warning notice to the profession :

"Whereas it has from time to time been made to appear to the General Medical Council that some registered medical practitioners, have, with a view to their own gain and to the detriment of other practitioners, been in the habit of issuing or sanctioning the issue of advertisements of an objectionable character, or of employing or sanctioning the employment of agents or canvassers for the purpose of procuring persons to become their patients ; And whereas in the opinion of the Council such practices are contrary to the public interest and discreditable to the profession of medicine : The Council hereby give notice that any registered medical practitioner resorting to such practices thereby renders himself liable to be charged under the 29th Section of the Medical Act, 1858, with 'infamous conduct in a professional respect,' and if, after due inquiry, he is judged by the Council to have been guilty of such conduct the Council may, if they see fit, direct his name to be erased from the Medical Register."

Special Questions of Professional Conduct considered. Canvassing and Advertising. Many of the cases brought before the Committee have related to alleged canvassing and advertising by medical practitioners, which, while in the opinion of the Committee undesirable, were not considered to be of so grave a nature as to require reference to the General Medical Council. Many of these related to the publication of the names of medical practitioners in trade advertisements, or in new paper announcements, and were dealt with in the same way as in previous years, namely, that in the cases of trade advertisements the attention of the practitioner concerned was drawn to the matter, and in the cases of new paper announcements the Editors of the newspapers were communicated with.

The question of advertising in connection with Hydropathic and similar establishments, which had been under the consideration of the Association through the Divisions during the previous year, was finally decided by the adoption by the Annual Representative Meeting at Leicester of the following resolution, on the recommendation of the Central Ethical Committee. —

That members of the profession who act as medical officers of hydropathic and similar establishments should make it a condition of their engagement that their names shall not be inserted in any advertisements of such institutions, except in advertisements in medical journals.

In connection with several cases which had from time to time been brought before the Committee the following pronouncement was given, which was reported to and approved by the Annual Representative Meeting :—

Many members of the medical profession appear to extend their notions of advertising far beyond anything that is reasonable, and would in their zeal prohibit medical men from allowing their names and qualifications to appear in any prominent position. The principle to be observed is that no one should advertise or canvass, or tout "for practice," or in the words of the General Medical Council, "for the purpose of procuring patients," and apart from direct advertising, it may be said that the advertising of medical books in the lay press, the contribution of articles on medical subjects to lay newspapers, and the delivery of lectures to lay audiences on the treatment of disease may fairly come within the class of things prohibited ; but a medical practitioner may take part in public work, may be a director or on the governing body of any company or corporation not formed for the treatment of disease for profit, without giving just cause for complaint of the appearance of his name in the newspapers.

Contract Medical Practice.

Questions affecting Contract Practice and similar appointments were considered by the Central Ethical Committee, and a special report on the subject was presented to the Annual Representative Meeting as part of the report on Contract Practice. (See extra Supplement to the British Medical Journal of July 22nd, 1905).

Special cases submitted gave rise to the following expressions of opinion by the Committee :—

- (a) No medical officer of a Friendly Society should in any circumstances offer a prize or prizes to members for the introduction of new members.
- (b) A practitioner ought not to indicate his willingness to accept an appointment which has not been declared vacant.
- (c) Apart from special circumstances of individual cases, the Association cannot be called upon to support practitioners in controversies with Clubs and other bodies, unless these practitioners, before taking action, obtain the approval of the Association through the Division concerned.

Assistants setting up in Opposition to Principals.—Certain cases came to the notice of the Committee in which medical practitioners were accused of having acted unprofessionally because they had set up in practice in opposition to practitioners whose assistants they had formerly been, and the Committee gave the following general expression of opinion, which was approved by the Central Council and Annual Representative Meeting.

That the mere fact of an assistant setting up in opposition to his former principal does not in itself constitute an ethical offence: that to prove such an offence, in the absence of any legal bond, it would be necessary to produce satisfactory evidence that the alleged offender had entered into some kind of written or verbal undertaking which, though not enforceable at law, was binding in honour.

Instruction in Medical Ethics.

In view of the evidence in the possession of the Committee concerning the ignorance of medical practitioners of the principles of medical ethics it was also decided to memorialise the medical schools in the United Kingdom with a view to the institution of courses of lectures on the subject.

Hospitals Committee.

The Annual Representative Meeting at Oxford, approved the following statement of principles affecting Hospital Management, which had been formulated by the Hospitals Committee and approved by the Central Council during the previous year:—

- (1) That poverty and sickness shall be the considerations for the admission of all patients for hospital treatment.
- (2) That no charge for the treatment of any patient shall be made, though voluntary contributions may be accepted.
- (3) That the production of Subscribers' Letters shall cease to be compulsory, and that where possible the system shall be abolished.
- (4) That some means of investigation into the circumstances of the applicants for relief shall be employed in all Medical Charities, and where possible a special officer shall be appointed for this work.
- (5) That the foregoing recommendations Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4 apply to both in- and out-patients.
- (6) That, except in emergencies, before a patient is admitted into any hospital, sufficient evidence shall be obtained on two points, (a) that the patient is not in a position to pay for treatment; (b) that the case is, from a medical point of view, suitable for hospital treatment.
- (7) That all cases of serious accident and severe sudden illness shall be attended to on their first application, and, if deemed eligible for further treatment, shall be referred to the appropriate department of the hospital, but if ineligible shall then be referred for treatment elsewhere.
- (8) That all cases of trivial accident or illness deemed ineligible for the out-patient department shall, after having been attended to, be referred for treatment elsewhere.

- (9) That it is inexpedient that any patient be able to leave the hospital without having been seen by a registered medical practitioner.
- (10) That the number of new cases to be seen on any one day by an honorary medical officer shall be limited.
- (11) That Special Hospitals shall treat only those cases that come strictly within the scope of their work.
- (12) That in all hospitals there shall be an age limit for the retirement of the medical officers.

During the Autumn of 1904, steps were taken to bring these proposals to the notice of Hospital Boards throughout the country, and two Conferences were held early in 1905, one of medical representatives of Hospitals, and the second of both medical and non-medical representatives. As a result the principles above stated were approved with certain verbal corrections, except Proposition (2), which was rejected by the Joint Conference of medical and non-medical representatives.

The Conference appointed 12 non-medical representatives to confer with the Hospitals Committee of the Association for the purpose of promoting reform in Hospital administration on the lines approved by the Conference.

At the same time the Hospitals Committee undertook to prepare a report upon certain other matters which had not been reported upon to the Conference, namely, Cottage Hospitals, Pay Wards of Hospitals, and the relation of Hospitals to Provident and to Free Dispensaries, and to the Poor-law Medical Service.

Two meetings of the Joint Committee appointed at the Conference were held in November, 1905, when the proposals on Cottage Hospitals and other subjects, prepared by the Hospitals Committee of the Association in the interval, were fully considered and a definite Scheme arrived at for submission to Hospital Boards throughout the country.

Irish Committee.

At Leicester an Irish Committee was appointed on similar terms to the Scottish Committee. It held its first meeting in Dublin, when the following matters received consideration:—The Royal Commission on the Poor Law; the extension of the Coroners' Act Amendment Bill to Ireland; and the amendment of the Lunacy Law.

Medico-Political Work.

The Medico-Political Committee received from the Annual Representative Meeting of 1904, specific instructions to deal with the following matters affecting the public relations of the profession:—

- (1) Contract Medical Practice. (2) Death Registration and Coroners Law. (3) The Medical Acts Amendment Bill. (4) The Midwives Act. (5) Representation of the Profession in Parliament. (6) Supply of Government Lymph to all Practitioners.

The Committee was also directed to circulate, for the information of the Divisions, the reports prepared concerning (1) the desirability of consultation between medical witnesses in legal cases; (2) the present legal position of registered medical practitioners in the matter of furnishing information to Coroners; and (3) the reorganisation of the Local Government Board with a view to the more efficient central administration of public health. These and other subjects received very careful consideration by the Council and the Medico-Political and Public Health Committees, and a full Report was presented to the Annual Representative Meeting. (For the report of the Medico-Political Committee, see British Medical Journal Supplement of May 27th, 1905, p. 235: for decisions of the Representative Meeting thereon, see Supplement of July 29th, and August 5th, 1905.)

The following is a condensed account of the work of the Association during the year with respect to the subjects mentioned in the above-named report and matters which subsequently arose.

CONTRACT PRACTICE.

The following proposals contained in the Interim Report on Contract Practice were referred by the Annual Representative Meeting at Oxford to the Divisions of the Association:—

- (1) Necessity of Contract Practice.—That it is inevitable in present conditions that there should be in some parts of the United Kingdom some system of contract medical service of the poor.
- (2) Medical Control.—That where the department of contract practice relates wholly to medical work, it is essential that medical men should be adequately represented on the management.
- (3) Distribution of Work.—That it should be a fundamental principle of the constitution of all such departments, that every medical practitioner in the district for which the service provides, who wishes so to act, should be a medical officer of the service, provided that he conforms to the rules of the service.

Rider to proposition (3), adopted by the Meeting (Minute 28)

- (3A) Friendly Societies: Choice of Medical Attendant.—That the individual members of Friendly Societies be entitled to choose the medical man by whom they desire to be attended.
- (4) Minimum Rate.—That, in present conditions, the lowest fee to be fixed in any district, as the minimum to be paid to each medical officer annually for each individual whom he is under contract to attend, should be 5s., subject to such composition fee, if any, as may be locally determined upon in the case of families having more than three children.
- (5) Exclusive of Infants.—That children under the age of five should not be admitted under contracts at minimal rates except in the case of the family composition fees included in Clause (4).

- (6) Provision against Abuse.—That in all such contracts the right be reserved to each medical officer to decline to attend as a member of such service any person whom he may consider to be unfit for membership in respect of financial position, but that such provision should be made as the governing body of the service may approve to prevent hardship resulting from the retrospective application of this rule.
- (7) Special Services.—The rates above specified are not intended to apply to night visits, obstetric cases, operations, or serious accidents, by the term "serious accident" being meant an accident which causes incapacitation for more than a week.

Replies were received from 76 Divisions. The first and second propositions were approved without qualification by 63 Divisions, the third by 57 Divisions, proposition (3A) by 49 Divisions, the fourth by 51 Divisions, the fifth by 53 Divisions, the sixth by 57 Divisions, and the seventh by 65 Divisions (subject to minor alterations).

Those Divisions which did not absolutely approve, were, as a rule, prepared to accept the propositions in modified form. The largest number of cases of absolute disapproval was with respect to proposition (3) 9 Divisions, and (3A) 6 Divisions.

The report of these replies was presented to the Annual Representative Meeting at Leicester concurrently with the general Report on the Economic Conditions of Contract Medical Practice in the United Kingdom, in which the Committee summed up the results of the investigation undertaken by instruction of the Representative Meeting held at Swansea in 1903.

Intervention by the Association in Disputes as regards Contract Practice.

The Association during the year took action in defence of individual practitioners in several disputes. By direction of the Medico-Political Committee, the Medical Secretary, in September, 1904, visited various centres of the South Wales Branch, for the purpose of investigating the conditions of Contract Practice, with special reference to colliery practice. The results of the inquiry were summed up in a report to the Branch Council, consequent upon which the Divisions and the Branch adopted special rules, and in other ways developed the Division and Branch organisation for dealing with matters of the kind.

The organisation was first put to practical use by the Cardiff Division in the case of a colliery appointment at Abergwynfi, with the result that the terms of this appointment, as originally proposed, were modified to meet the views of the Association. Subsequently, similar action was taken by the Monmouthshire Division with regard to important appointments under the Ebbw Vale Workmen's Doctors' Fund, with the result that candidates who applied for the appointment declined to undertake the duties until the regulations should be modified to meet the views of the Association.

The action taken in these and other cases has demonstrated the capacity of the Divisions of the Association to act promptly, as local medical societies, in defence of the interests of their members against unjust treatment from contract practice organisations, and has demonstrated also the advantage to the Divisions, in dealing with such matters of forming part of a national organisation.

Contract Practice Sub-Committee.

Having regard to the increasing number and importance of the cases in which the Association was thus being called upon to intervene on behalf of the profession in various districts, a special Contract Practice Sub-Committee was constituted in October, 1905, composed of representatives of the Medico-Political and Ethical Committees with other members of the Association who have had special experience of Contract Practice.

Central Emergency Fund.

On the recommendation of the Sub-Committee, the Medico-Political Committee and Central Council have approved the formation of a Central Emergency Fund, to be utilised for the assistance of members of the profession in cases in which the funds of the Association are not available under the present constitution.

PUBLIC HEALTH AND POOR LAW APPOINTMENTS.

Under the special supervision of the Public Health Committee, the Association has taken similar action with respect to certain public appointments, in which it appeared that members of the profession were unjustly treated, and has succeeded in obtaining more equitable conditions.

Death Registration and Coroners' Law.

The subject of Death Registration and Certification, and the kindred subject of the law and practice of coroners in investigating the cause of death, again received the careful consideration of the Association during the year under review, and certain proposals placed before the Representative Meeting at Oxford, were, by instruction of that Meeting, elaborated by the Medico-Political Committee and reported to and approved by the Representative Meeting at Leicester, instructions being given to draft a Bill dealing with the whole question.

As regards the practice of coroners, a memorandum was drawn up pointing out the actual legal position of medical practitioners in giving information to coroners otherwise than by evidence at inquests, namely, that no legal obligations rest upon them. This memorandum was circulated for the information of the Divisions, in order that action might be taken locally, where thought desirable, in enforcement of this principle.

The question of the peculiar procedure of the Coroner for South-West London with respect to medical evidence at inquests again received the attention of the Association, and renewed applications were made to the Lord Chancellor, Lord Halsbury, but without avail. The Representative Meeting at Leicester recorded its protest against the continued inaction of the Lord Chancellor and the Prime Minister, to whom application had also been made in this matter. As a result of a special communication from the Chairman of the Representative Meeting, Mr. Balfour replied that the matter was beyond his powers.

The Association also decided to challenge the legality of the payments made by the coroner in question to a pathologist, and with this object appeared as rate-payers before the Auditor of the accounts of the London County Council, the case being heard on November 2nd and 30th, 1905.

STATE REGISTRATION OF NURSES.

The Representative Meeting having approved the general principle of the State Registration of Nurses, the Chairman of Representative Meetings (Sir Victor Horsley), and (Dr. H. W. Langley Browne), attended on behalf of the Association to give evidence on the subject before the Select Committee of the House of Commons, which eventually reported in favour of the principle. By direction of the Representative Meeting at Leicester, the subject is now being again referred to the Divisions. The Association also took action in the matter of the proposed formation of a limited company for the registration of nurses, and appeared by representatives before the Board of Trade to oppose the grant of the Board of Trade licence to such a company.

CERTIFYING FACTORY SURGEONS.

The Association supported the Association of Certifying Factory Surgeons, and exerted its influence in opposing a Bill introduced by the Home Office, of which one of the objects was to transfer to lay inspectors duties at present discharged by the certifying factory surgeon.

The Association received the support in this matter of nearly all medical members of the House, and also of members representing the interests of labour. The Bill was eventually withdrawn.

MEDICAL ACTS AMENDMENT BILL.

The Medical Acts Amendment Bill, having been again reported to the Divisions with an epitome of its main principles, was approved by the Representative Meeting at Leicester, and the Medico-Political Committee was authorised, after making certain minor amendments, to take steps for its introduction into Parliament.

PARLIAMENTARY REPRESENTATION OF THE PROFESSION.

In accordance with the instruction of the Representative Meeting at Oxford, the Medico-Political Committee and Council prepared a scheme with a view to improving the representation of the profession in Parliament, but the Representative Meeting at Leicester decided not to proceed in the matter.

Action in respect of the Parliamentary Election.

During the year 1904-5, several Divisions of the Association took action at By-Elections to bring to the notice of candidates for Parliament measures affecting public health and the medical profession, especially the Public Health Bill (Security of Tenure of Medical Officers of Health), and favourable answers to the representations of the Association were in almost all cases received.

The Representative Meeting at Leicester gave instructions that in view of the probability of a General Election, a Special Committee be formed to prepare a number of questions for the consideration of Parliamentary candidates, and subsequently to consider the replies and bring them to the notice of the members of the profession in the various constituencies contested, and arrangements have been made accordingly for carrying out this action in the General Election.

The subjects which the Parliamentary Sub-committee decided to bring before candidates for Parliament included the Medical Acts Amendment Bill, Death Registration reform, reorganisation of the Local Government Board in the interests of public health, security of tenure of Medical Officers of Health and other officers acting under public authorities, improvement of the position of Irish Poor Law Officers and amendments of the law relative to Midwives, Incipient Insanity, Inebriety, and the Medical Inspection of School Children.

REORGANISATION OF THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT BOARD.

Proposals for the reorganisation of the Local Government Board in the interests of public health, to the effect that it should be made a real Board, including medical, legal, engineering and Poor Law experts, and meeting for the transaction of business, and that the President should be raised to an equality, as regards salary and status, with the principal Secretaries of State, and that all questions affecting public health, at present under the control of other Government Departments, should be brought under the control of the Local Government Board, were referred to the Divisions, in order that they might take such action as they might find possible to urge the appointment of a Royal Commission for the investigation of the whole subject. Similar proposals were included (see above) among questions prepared for submission to candidates for Parliament at the General Election, 1906.

SUPPLY OF GOVERNMENT LYMPH TO PRIVATE MEDICAL PRACTITIONERS.

To give effect to the instruction of the Representative Meeting at Oxford on this matter, representatives of the Association interviewed the Medical Officer and an Assistant Under Secretary of the Local Government Board to ascertain the views of the Department upon the question; it was found that the difficulties were chiefly those of expense.

MIDWIVES ACT OF 1902.

In carrying out the instruction of the Representative Meeting to take action to obtain statutory provision for the payment of medical practitioners called to assist midwives, the Medico-Political Committee found it necessary to ascertain the opinion of the Divisions as to the form which such provision should take, and the result was the formulation of the following principles :—

- (1) That the provision should be made in the first instance through the local supervising authority;
- (2) That the provision should be a guarantee of the payment of fees of the practitioner in case the patient were unable to pay; and
- (3) That it should be open to all practitioners to attend.

No definite opinion was arrived at as to a suitable scale of fees, and that matter has again been referred to the Divisions by direction of the Representative Meeting.

PUBLIC HEALTH.

Security of Tenure of Medical Officers of Health.

The Public Health Bill of the Association was carefully redrafted by the Public Health Committee in the Autumn of 1904, embodying in its final form the following principal provisions :—

That these Officers should not be appointed for limited periods only, and should only be removable with the consent of the Local Government Board.

The Bill was introduced in the House of Commons by Dr. C. F. Hutchinson, supported by Sir Walter Foster, Sir John B. Tuke, and others, but owing to the congestion of Parliamentary business did not receive consideration. It was brought, however, to the notice of the late President of the Local Government Board, by a deputation which was received by him on Thursday, November 30th, 1905.

The principles of the Bill were included (see above) among the questions prepared for the consideration of candidates for Parliament at the General Election.

Organisation of the Association.

Though the reorganisation of the Association under the new Constitution was virtually complete at the time of the Annual Representative Meeting at Oxford, the changing conditions of the profession, both locally and centrally, necessitate constant readjustment of the details of organisation.

Boundaries.

The changes of boundaries of Divisions and Branches effected during the year included—The separation of the North Wales and Shropshire Branch into the North Wales Branch and the Shropshire and Mid-Wales Branch (a return to the condition existing prior to 1903), the absorption of the Richmond and Northallerton Division by the Darlington Division, and the absorption of the Crewe Division by the Chester and other neighbouring Divisions.

Changes of Regulations.

The Annual Representative Meeting at Leicester made the following changes in the By-laws of the Association:—

- (1) Grants to Branches. By-law 16 was amended in order to make clear that the grants to Branches are to be applied at their discretion to the objects of the Association as defined in the Memorandum of Association.
- (2) Composition of the Central Council—
 - (a) That the period of continuous service of representatives of Branches be reduced from 8 years to 6.
 - (b) That the qualification for election of representatives of Colonial Branches on the Central Council should be the same as for Home Branches, except as regards those Branches which make the special provision permitted by the regulations for the purpose.
 - (c) That the Council should have power to elect, as representatives of the Navy, Army and Indian Medical Services on the Council, officers either on the active list or who have retired not more than three years previously.
 - (d) That the Council should henceforth elect officers for the year on the first day of the Annual Meeting.
- (3) Irish Committee.—An Irish Committee was constituted by By-law to deal with matters specially affecting Ireland, the composition being analogous to that of the Scottish Committee.

Extension of the Objects of the Association. Proposed Royal Charter.

As instructed by the Annual Representative Meeting at Oxford, the Council, during the year 1904-5, made careful inquiries as to the possibility of effecting such an alteration of the Memorandum of Association as would be necessary in order to extend the definition of the objects of the Association, as desired by the Representative Meeting. The Council reported that the change desired would appear to be impracticable under the Companies' Acts, and recommended that the Representative Meeting should consider the advisability of an application being made for a Royal Charter. The Representative Meeting resolved that a Royal Charter be applied for, and that a draft of the application with an explanatory memorandum be circulated to the Divisions, prior to its submission to the Privy Council.

Science Committee.

At Leicester the Council appointed a Science Committee, to carry on the work formerly done by the Scientific Grants Committee, the Annual Meeting (Sections) Committee, and the Science Co-ordination Committee. The Committee has since met and considered certain matters referred to it from the sections, among which was a resolution remitted from the Section of Obstetrics and Gynæcology, pointing out the desirability of fixing a standard of puerperal morbidity in maternity hospitals. On the recommendation of the Committee, the Council appointed a Special Committee to report on the subject. The Science Committee will be glad to assist in the development of the Scientific work of the Divisions and Branches.

During the past year the Association has expended the sum of £953 from its general funds. Four Research Scholars have received between them £600, and, in addition, 28 gentlemen have received the sum of £353, in grants ranging from £5 to £50, for the purpose of prosecuting scientific research. Detailed accounts of individual researches were published in the Supplement to the Journal of July 1st, 1905, p. 1. The Fourth Report of the Special Chloroform Committee will be found in the Journal of July 2nd, 1905, p. 180.

In addition to the foregoing expenditure out of the general funds of the Association, the Association holds in trust certain Special Funds, to be awarded from time to time in the form of Prizes in recognition of research. The Trust Funds so administered are the Middlemore Prize and the Stewart Prize, particulars of which will be found on p. 122.

Scottish Committee.

The Committee held three meetings during 1905—in Dundee, Perth, and Glasgow—at which the questions of politics and ethics as they concern the profession in Scotland were dealt with. Amongst the subjects under consideration were—(1) The granting of medical certificates of unfitness to attend school; (2) The medical representation of the defence at the official autopsies in criminal cases; (3) The position of medical practitioners under the Licensing Act; (4) The medical examination and supervision of children under the Education (Scotland) Bill; and (5) The reforms needed in the administration of the Poor Law.

A Sub-Committee was appointed in connection with the Royal Commission on the Poor Law, to watch the matter in the interests of the Committee.

THE LIBRARY OF THE ASSOCIATION.

THE Library with its well-appointed reading and writing room forms an important branch of the work of the Association. It is open daily from 10 o'clock until 5 in the afternoon, except on Saturdays when it closes at 2 p.m., and the Librarian is always in attendance to assist members in obtaining the books they may require. The great value of the Library is shown by the steadily increasing number of readers it attracts.

Every Medical Journal of importance published in the United Kingdom, and the Colonies and many of the American and Continental periodicals, are filed.

In addition to these, the Library also contains a valuable collection of some 10,000 of the "Thèses de Paris" and the "Thèses de Lyon," which are not filed in any other English Medical Library.

An extensive collection is also being made of the Reports of Medical Officers of Health of London and the provinces.

The Library thus affords members of the British Medical Association opportunities of consulting the best standard and current literature in every province of Medical Science, and reference to the same is facilitated by the Library possessing complete series to date of the "Jahrbücher of Schmidt and of Canstatt" and both series of the Index Catalogues of the Surgeon-General's Library at Washington.

FINANCIAL PROGRESS.

THE Association was founded in 1832. The financial statements up to 1872 were simply cash statements of receipts and payments, and showed no surplus. At the end of 1871 there was actually a deficit of £1,895. This was not paid off till 1874, when, in addition, a surplus of £500 had accrued. This is the first surplus on record. From then on, the excess of income over expenditure is as follows :—

1875	1876	1877	1878
£124	£1,063	£1,207	£769

It is interesting to note that in 1876 the Association began to purchase itself the paper for printing the Journal, whereby a considerable economy was effected.

In 1879 the Association undertook the production of the Journal, and removed to offices at 161A, Strand. This step was attended with marked success, as shown by the following figures representing balance of income over expenditure :—

1879	1880	1881	1882	1883
£2,311	£3,217	£2,139	£2,788	£2,404

THE BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL.

THE British Medical Journal is the Journal of the British Medical Association. It is published weekly in London, and is sent post free to all members of the Association, whether resident in the United Kingdom, in British Colonies, or in foreign countries.

As a medical periodical it has won a high place among such publications, and has achieved a position of international importance, having a considerable circulation beyond the members of the Association. With the first number of 1906 improvements will be introduced in the style of printing and general get-up of the British Medical Journal, which will add to the ease with which it may be read, and thereby contribute to the comfort and convenience of readers. As in the past, a great part of the space of the Journal will continue to be devoted to articles on medicine, surgery, and pathology. In it are published each autumn the addresses delivered before the Annual Meeting, and full reports of the discussions which take place in the Sections. A large number of clinical lectures and papers, as well as shorter notes from private practice, are published at other seasons of the year, and the clinical and scientific work done by the Divisions and Branches of the Association, as well as by the principal medical societies in the United Kingdom, is reported in the body of the Journal.

The Journal has special correspondents in the principal foreign countries and British colonies, and the Editor is able to rely upon the assistance of a large staff of experienced writers, experts, and specialists. In the editorial columns all topics of current medical interest are discussed, and no effort is spared to supply members with early, accurate, and complete information on all questions, whether scientific, political or social, affecting the profession.

The British Medical Journal is recognized by the lay press as one of the principal exponents of medical opinion, and it is thus not only able to disseminate information to members of the Association, but directly and indirectly to bring the considered opinion of the medical profession to the notice of the public.

The Epitome.

In the epitome of current medical literature which has been published for the last thirteen years, abstracts of all the more important papers bearing upon medicine, surgery, obstetrics, gynæcology, therapeutics and pathology, published in foreign periodicals, are classified.

Supplements.

In consequence of the considerable increase in the medico-political work of the Association which has taken place since the new constitution has got into working order, it has been found convenient to issue supplements containing reports of the proceedings of the General and Representative Meetings, of the Council and standing committees, and of the Branches and Divisions. Since the beginning of 1905 a Supplement has been published weekly. In this way the records of the public work of the Association are brought together, and can be preserved for future reference. In the Supplements are also published the reports of the proceedings of the General Medical Council, Bills and Acts of Parliament, regulations of Government departments, and other official documents. These Supplements thus form a complete record of all matters concerning the business of the Association, and its medico-political action, as well as of other matters affecting the public relations of the profession. As a separate index is provided, this record will be found very convenient for reference in the future by all members, but especially by Honorary Secretaries of the Divisions and Branches, Members of Councils and executive Committees, and other officers of the Association.

Notice to Honorary Secretaries.

The Honorary Secretaries of the Divisions and Branches are particularly requested to arrange that all notices of meetings to be held shall reach the Editor, 2, Agar Street, Strand, London, W.C., not later than the first post on Tuesday morning, and all reports of meetings which have been held, not later than the first post on Monday morning. The telegraphic address of the Editor is "Aitiology, London" (National Telephone No. 2631, Gerrard).

The telegraphic address of the General Secretary is "Articulate, London" (National Telephone No. 2630, Gerrard). The telephone number of the Medical Secretary is—National Telephone 2634, Gerrard.

Subscriptions.

For the annual subscription of 25s., members of the British Medical Association resident in any part of the world receive, as one of the privileges of membership the British Medical Journal weekly, post paid.

For non-members of the British Medical Association, the subscription price of the British Medical Journal is 28s. per annum in the United Kingdom, and 32s. 6d. outside the United Kingdom.

Advertisements.

Owing to its large and influential circulation the British Medical Journal is the best advertising medium for reaching the medical profession throughout the British Empire. The weekly issue now exceeds 22,500 copies, making a grand total of nearly one million and a quarter copies a year.

For the purchase or sale of a Practice, for those who require an assistant or locum tenens, or for those who are seeking such appointments, for the notification of appointments made at hospitals and other medical institutions, for those who are in search of Homes for patients, and to the proprietors of homes and private asylums, the advertisement columns of the British Medical Journal offer an unequalled means of making their wants known. For short advertisements not exceeding eight lines single column (about 48 words) the charge is 4s. 3d. (including 3d. for postage). Replies to advertisements appearing in the Journal can if desired be addressed to the office of the British Medical Journal, and will be forwarded to the advertiser.

The British Medical Journal also affords the best means of bringing commercial advertisements under the notice of the medical profession. As an advertising medium for books, drugs, dietetic preparations, medical and surgical appliances, hospital fittings, carriages, automobiles, and the thousand and one other things which the medical man needs in his daily work, the British Medical Journal is unrivalled.

Scale of Charges for Advertisements.

Eight lines and under (single column)	...	£	0	4	0
Each additional line	„	...	0	0	6
A whole single column	2	13	4
Half page	4	0	0

An average line (single column) contains six words.

All charges are based at the rate of £8 per page, and pro rata.

Serial Discounts.

When a series of insertions of the same advertisement is ordered, without changing copy, a discount is given on the above scale in the following proportions, beyond which no reduction can be allowed :—

For 6 insertions, a deduction of 10 per cent.

„ 12 or 13 „	„	15 „
„ 26 „	„	20 „
„ 52 „	„	25 „

Serial Discounts, when copy is changed.

When advertisers change copy during a series, the following discounts are allowed :—

10 per cent. if not less than 13 insertions be taken.

15 „	„	26 „
20 „	„	52 „
25 „	„	104 „

Any series must be completed within twelve months from date of the first insertion.

If an advertisement is stopped before the termination of a series for which it was originally ordered, the discount will be adjusted according to the series at the time of stoppage.

Any correction or alteration of an advertisement for the current week must be received not later than the first post on Wednesday.

Advertisements should be delivered, addressed to the Manager, at the Office, and, if not paid for at the time, should be accompanied by a reference.

In order to avoid the inconvenience of opening accounts for small amounts, all small advertisements must be accompanied by a remittance.

Post Office Orders should be made payable to the British Medical Association at the General Post Office, London. Small amounts may be sent in postage stamps.

All accounts are strictly for cash quarterly.

In consequence of the extra expense incurred in setting up and risk in printing, special terms will be charged for all advertisements with the type set askew, or in such a manner as to necessitate electrotyping or stereotyping.

The Management cannot guarantee the insertion of an advertisement for any special date, but every endeavour will be made to meet the wishes of advertisers.

Full particulars and quotations can be had on application to the Manager, British Medical Journal, 429, Strand, London, W.C.

MEDAL FOR DISTINGUISHED MERIT.HISTORY OF ITS FOUNDATION.

THE following particulars are extracted from the MEDAL BOOK of the British Medical Association showing the history of the foundation of the Medal for Distinguished Merit.

At a meeting of the Committee of Council held in London on July 11, 1877, Dr. Falconer, President of Council, in the Chair, a resolution was passed: "That the heroic conduct of the medical gentlemen who, at great sacrifice, loss, and personal risk gave their aid at the late accident at Pontypridd is deserving of public recognition, and that the Committee of Council take into consideration whether they can appropriately recommend to the Council of the British Medical Association that some testimonial in the shape of a Medal or otherwise be awarded to one or more of the Gentlemen in question by the Annual General Meeting." Subsequently a sub-committee met, when it was decided to carry out the foregoing resolution, and obtain both designs for a Medal and the names of the gentlemen engaged professionally in the rescue work of the Pontypridd miners.

On July 25th, 1877, the following expressions of the Committee naming those who had taken part in the rescue were put on record:—

"That MR. H. H. DAVIES, Surgeon to the Colliery, be presented with a Gold Medal and Engrossed Resolution."

"That MR. WASHINGTON DAVID and MR. EDGAR DUKES be presented with Silver Medals and Engrossed Resolutions."

"That MR. EDWARD STEPHEN DAVIES be presented with a Silver Medal and Engrossed Resolution."

"That Bronze Medals be presented to MR. FRANCIS HENRY THOMPSON, MR. CHARLES JOHN JONES, MR. GEORGE NEAL, MR. PHILLIP JAMES, MR. T. V. PARRY, MR. REES HOPKINS, MR. EDWARD LLOYD, and MR. IVOR AJAX LEWIS, together with a copy of the Resolution."

The Engrossed Address referred to, stated, that the British Medical Association had taken into consideration the heroic conduct, self-denial, and humanity of these gentlemen at the Pontypridd accident, and were of opinion that their behaviour merited the highest praise and a public recognition on the part of the Association. At the Annual Meeting of the Association held in Manchester on August 7th, 1877, the Medals were awarded for the first time, and presented by the President (Dr. M. A. Eason Wilkinson). After the presentation the President of Council made a speech, in which he stated:—

"That the meeting would agree that the conduct of the medical men who were concerned in watching over the miners in the accident at Pontypridd, exhibited the highest courage and the greatest powers of endurance and perseverance. They were for days and days in the mine waiting for the expected release of the men, and when that happy release was made, they were unremitting in their attention to the poor men."

The following is a copy of a paper drawn out by Dr., afterwards Sir Edward Sieveking :—

"From the 11th to the 21st April, 1877, a boy and four men were imprisoned in the Tynewyd Colliery without light or food. The moral influence of the presence of the medical men who cheered and encouraged the miners to persevere in their attempt at rescue had a very material bearing upon their success.

"When the imprisoned men could be communicated with the first thing they asked was, 'Are the doctors there?' and the two young men, Messrs. Dukes and David, were the first who, after a communication had been effected, crept through the narrow channel at the peril of their lives. The doctors, when in the pit, were in the same peril from coal-damp and a flood of water as the working miners, and they had not the stimulus of bodily work to take off their minds from the depressing influence of surrounding circumstances. The Association have thought the occasion one exhibiting in a peculiar manner the highest qualities of British medical men, and showing to the world the self-sacrificing spirit which prevails among them. They have therefore unanimously agreed that they would found a Medal to be bestowed for distinguished merit, the first recipients of which should be the medical gentlemen engaged in the rescue of the entombed miners at Pontypridd, when all did their work well without fee or reward, or the prospect of recognition by the Government, as it would be in any other country; it is not intended that the Medals bestowed by the Association should be more than an expression of admiration on their part of the manner in which the recipients did their duty, and coming, as they do, from a body of seven thousand medical men of Great Britain and Ireland, it is hoped that in some measure the distinction may take the place of such Orders as in other countries would be bestowed upon men who had merited the recognition of their Sovereign. The Gold Medal had been awarded to Henry Naunton Davies, Esq., L.R.C.P. Lond., surgeon to the colliery, upon whom devolved the chief responsibility, care, and anxiety during the entombment and after the rescue. He spent whole days and nights in the pit, and shared all the dangers, while he had the cases involved in an extensive practice to put aside. The Silver Medal had been awarded to two young assistants, students in medicine, who were in the pit for forty-eight hours and were the first to crawl through the opening by which the entombed men were communicated with, namely, Mr. Washington David and Mr. Edgar Dukes, and to Mr. Edward William Stephen Davis, who also spent some time in the pit and took charge of the rescued men on the surface.

"Bronze Medals had been awarded to Thomas William Parry, Esq., Charles John Jones, Esq., Francis Henry Thompson, Esq., George Neal, Esq., Philip James, Esq., Rees Hopkins, Esq., Ivor Ajax Lewis, Esq., Edward Lloyd, M.D., all of whom exposed their lives, more or less, in the pit, and rendered essential service when the miners were released."

The President of Council further expressed his belief that there would be found amongst the members of their profession many who under similar circumstances would have acted in the same heroic manner, but the opportunity had only come to the gentlemen whose names had been mentioned, and in grasping it they had showed what risks and sacrifices members of the profession were capable of undertaking for the benefit of their fellow creatures.

The foregoing particulars show the origin of the award of the Medals for Distinguished Merit, together with the circumstances for which the medals were awarded.

The Medal has continued to be awarded by the Association from time to time, and the following is a list of the recipients in chronological order, with the circumstances under which it has been awarded :—

THE MEDAL FOR DISTINGUISHED MERIT OF THE
BRITISH MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

COPY OF THE REGULATIONS

Passed at the General Meeting of Members, held at Bath, August 9th, 1878.

Institution of Medal.—The Medal “For Distinguished Merit” was instituted by the British Medical Association at its Annual Meeting in Manchester, August 8th, 1877; to be awarded under such conditions as the Council of the Association may determine upon.

Conditions of Award.—§ 1. The Medal, which shall be gold, silver, or bronze, may be awarded to any gentleman who shall have conspicuously raised the character of the Medical Profession, by scientific work, by extraordinary professional services, or by special services rendered to the British Medical Association.

The Award.—§ 2. The award of the Medal shall be made by the Council; but no award shall take place unless at least three-fourths of the members of the Council present at the Meeting when the decision is taken shall vote in favour of it. The vote shall be taken by ballot.

Proposal for Award.—§ 3. Any three members of the Council may at any quarterly meeting propose a name or names for the award of the Medal, stating the grounds of their proposition, which, if seconded, shall be considered at the ensuing meeting of the Council; having been previously, for at least one month, sent by circular to each member of the Council.

Secrecy of Discussion.—§ 4. Members of the Council shall not divulge any proceedings relative to the award of the Medal.

No Discussion in Journal.—§ 5. The Editor of the British Medical Journal shall not permit any proposal or suggestion for an award of the Medal in the Journal; but shall forward any such suggestion to the Council.

Delivery of Medal.—§ 6. The gentleman or gentlemen to whom a Medal has been awarded during the year shall, at a Meeting to be specially convened on the day of the ensuing Annual Meeting on which the Dinner of the Association is held, be invited to receive the same from the hands of the President or Chairman of the Meeting, together with an engrossed testimonial, stating the grounds of the award.

Medallists Guests of Annual Dinner.—§ 7. The recipients of the Medal shall be invited as guests of the Association to the Annual Dinner, at which, and future Annual Dinners, they shall be expected to wear the Medal, whether gold, silver, or bronze, by a blue ribbon round the neck.

Book for Statutes.—§ 8. A suitable book shall be provided by the Association, in which the statutes relating to the Medal “For Distinguished Merit” shall be entered, together with the grounds for each award; and the medallists shall be requested to enter their names in the same.

Printing of Statutes.—§ 9. The statutes relating to the Medal shall be printed, and a copy given to each medallist.

THE BRITISH MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND ITS SCIENTIFIC GRANTS.

SINCE 1874, when the Scientific Grants Committee was established, the British Medical Association has voted £20,782 for the encouragement of scientific research, in addition to £1,750 voted to other societies and bodies outside the Association. The Council of the Association recently merged the work of other Committees into this Committee, at the same time giving it the comprehensive title of Science Committee. The names of its members are published on page 30. The Committee at its meeting in June each year selects the grantees and scholars. Last June, on its recommendation, the Council granted the sum of £353, which was distributed among twenty-eight grantees. Also £600 was devoted to the Ernest Hart Memorial Scholarship and three other Research Scholarships.

The following are the conditions under which scholarships are made:—

The Scholarships exist for the encouragement of research in Anatomy, Physiology, Pathology, Bacteriology, State Medicine, Clinical Medicine, and Clinical Surgery.

Each Scholar shall be appointed by the Council upon the recommendation of the Science Committee.

Scholars shall devote the whole of their time to the work of research, and shall not hold another Scholarship worth more than £50, and their work shall be subject to inspection.

Applications for Scholarships and Grants should, as a rule, be accompanied by a recommendation from the head of the laboratory in which the applicant proposes to work, setting out the fitness of the candidate to conduct such work and the probable value of the work to be undertaken. This is not intended to prevent applications for Grants in aid of work which need not be performed in a recognised laboratory.

The appointment shall be for one year only; but each Scholar shall be eligible for re-election on the recommendation of the Science Committee, provided that his whole term of office shall not in any case exceed three years.

The holder of the "Ernest Hart Memorial Scholarship" shall devote himself to the study of some subject in the Department of State Medicine, and the holders of the other Scholarships shall study some subject in one of the other Departments enumerated above.

Each applicant for a Research Scholarship shall sign a form stating his willingness to conform to the regulations, a copy of which can be obtained on application to the General Secretary, 429, Strand, London.

Each Scholarship year shall be deemed to commence upon the 1st of July and to terminate upon the 30th June next following.

Each Association Research Scholar shall, towards the termination of his year of office, present a statement of the work he has done, which statement shall be posted so as to reach the General Secretary's hands not later than the 31st of May.

In the case of Grants, the recipients are required to present by the 31st May each year, a short interim report of their work, pending the completion of their research, which must be ultimately forwarded for publication in the British Medical Journal.

Any portion of a grant not expended is required to be returned to the General Secretary, together with a statement of expenditure by the 31st May in each year, when in the event of a grantee not having completed the work for which he received a grant, he is eligible to make further application for a renewal of the grant. It is now open to recipients of grants to retain any apparatus they may have purchased with moneys voted to them by the Association, provided the Association does not require its return.

MIDDLEMORE PRIZE.

THIS Prize was founded and endowed by the late Mr. Richard Middlemore, F.R.C.S., of Birmingham. The Prize consists of an illuminated Certificate together with a cheque for £50, and is given triennially. The original provision for awarding the Prize was that it should be given for the best Essay on the Scientific and Practical Value of Improvements in Ophthalmic Medicine and Surgery (made or published) during the previous three years, but, by a Supplemental Deed the conditions regulating the Prize were with the consent of the Donor, altered so as to extend its scope to not merely Essays on the subjects mentioned, but for the best Essay or Work on any subject, in any department of Ophthalmic Medicine or Surgery.

The following is a chronological list of the recipients of the Prize from its foundation :—

- 1882. W. Adams Frost, F.R.C.S.
- 1886. George A. Berry, F.R.C.S. Edin., and W. Adams Frost, F.R.C.S.
- 1890. W. A. Brailey, M.D., and Priestley Smith, F.R.C.S.
- 1894. E. Treacher Collins, F.R.C.S.
- 1897. Hill Griffith, M.D.
- 1900. Ernest E. Maddox, M.D.
- 1904. J. Herbert Parsons, M.B., B.S., D.Sc., F.R.C.S.

STEWART PRIZE.

THE Stewart Prize was founded by the late Dr. Alexander Patrick Stewart, London, to be awarded biennially.

The prize consists of an illuminated Certificate together with a cheque.

The conditions governing the Prize are that it shall be awarded firstly, and as a general rule, for the recognition of important work already done, or of researches instituted and promising good results regarding the origin, spread, and prevention of Epidemic Disease, with a view to encourage the continuance of the same.

The following is a list of those to whom the Prize has been awarded since its institution.

- 1882. Surg.-Maj. Vandyke Carter, M.D., I.M.S.
- 1886. Robert Cory, M.D.
- 1889. E. Klein, M.D., F.R.S.
- 1891. J. Burn Russell, M.D.
- 1893. Sir R. Thorne Thorne, K.C.B., M.D., F.R.S.
- 1895. Brig.-Surg. Lt.-Col. D. D. Cunningham, C.I.E., F.R.S.
- 1897. G. Sims Woodhead, M.D., F.R.S.E.
- 1899. Surgeon F. J. Abercrombie Dalton, R.N.
- 1901. Sir Patrick Manson, K.C.M.G., M.D., F.R.S.
- 1903. F. W. Mott, M.D., F.R.S.
- 1905. William H. Power, C.B., F.R.C.S., F.R.S.

First and Foremost.

Cadbury's Cocoa comes first among food beverages because it is so closely allied to milk in its composition. It is highly nourishing, and as a daily beverage for growing children and adults it is unexcelled. Cocoa prepared in the Cadbury way is rich and in the highest degree strengthening and invigorating, yet so refined as to be digested with ease by the most delicate stomach.

PENSIONS AND FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIPS.

IN CONNECTION WITH THE COLLEGE, and under the management of the Council of the College, the following Pensions, Annuities, and Scholarships are provided for aged Medical Men, the Widows of Medical Men in reduced circumstances, and the children of Medical Men.

FIFTY FOUNDATION SCHOLARS receive an education of the highest class in Epsom College, and are boarded, clothed and maintained at the expense of the College. They must be elected, after approval by the Council, from among the necessitous Sons of such Medical Men as would be professionally qualified for Pensionerships.

The Council have power to admit at a reduced fee of 35 guineas a few Exhibitors, "Sons of such duly qualified Medical Men as shall, in the opinion of the Council, be among the less fortunate members of their profession."

FEMALE FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIPS.—Ten Perpetual Presentations for Female Orphans of Medical Men, and one, with certain restrictions, open to those who are not Orphans, have been established, in connection with the College, at the School of St. Anne's Society.

FIFTY ORDINARY PENSIONERS AND NINE "PUGH" PENSIONERS receive £30 a year each. Pensioners must be legally qualified Medical Men, who have been Registered Medical Practitioners for five years, or the Widows of such. They must not be less than sixty years of age at the time of their application for admission as Candidates, and their yearly income, independent of any allowance from the College, must not exceed £60.

TEN "FRANCE" PENSIONERS receive annuities of £30. Every Candidate for one of these pensions must be a duly qualified Member of the Medical Profession, and, save and except that Widows of Medical Men shall not as such be eligible, the qualifications for a "France" Pension are identical with those required in respect of Ordinary Pensions.

FOURTEEN "DA SILVA" PENSIONERS receive pensions of £20 per annum in addition to the out-pension received from the College.

THREE "MORGAN" ANNUITANTS receive annuities of £20 each. They must be Daughters of Medical Men professionally qualified for Pensionerships, and must possess the same qualifications, as regards age and income, as those required from Candidates for Pensionerships.

The Ordinary Pensioners, "Pugh" Pensioners, "Morgan" Annuitants, and Foundation Scholars are elected by the Governors, voting by ballot, and having votes in proportion to the amount of their contributions. There is one election in the year for Ordinary Pensioners and Foundation Scholars, namely, in June.

Donors of TEN GUINEAS and Collectors of TWENTY GUINEAS are LIFE GOVERNORS of the College; Subscribers of ONE GUINEA annually are GOVERNORS during the continuance of their subscription. Contributions of a less amount than ONE GUINEA are welcome. Annual Subscriptions are payable in advance on the 1st of January in each year, and must be paid before the election in order to entitle the Governors to vote.

Any information with regard to the details of the College will gladly be communicated to parties addressing inquiries to the HEAD MASTER; to the BURAR (for School business), at the College, Epsom; or to the SECRETARY, at the Office of the College, where Subscriptions and Donations will be thankfully received. Contributions will also be received by the TREASURER, SIR C. HOLMAN, M.D., 26, Gloucester Place, Portman Square, W.; the MEMBERS OF THE COUNCIL, the HONORARY LOCAL SECRETARIES, and the BANKERS, Messrs. Barclay & Co., Limited, 19, Fleet Street, E.C.

STAMMERING.

Mr. EDW. GRIERSON, a perfectly self-cured Stammerer of 30 years' experience, receives boys and also adult sufferers.

Boys are treated and educated at Bedford. The health and home comforts of pupils carefully attended to and individual attention given to each case.

The aim of Mr. GRIERSON's system is not only to cure the Stammering but also to thoroughly develop the mental and physical powers of each pupil.

Mr. Grierson's Booklet on Stammering, post free 1/-, should be read by all parents who have children that stammer.

THE RIGHT REVEREND THE LORD BISHOP OF WINCHESTER.

SIR CONSTANTINE HOLMAN, M.D.

Head Master:—

REV. T. N. HART SMITH-PEARSE, M.A., late Scholar of Exeter College, Oxford, formerly Assistant Master at Marlborough College.

Bursar:—

W. D. CROSSLEY, Esq., F.R.G.S.

Epsom College is conducted as a first-rate Public School, with a Medical Foundation.

The educational work has been carefully arranged on the system that has proved so successful at Wellington College, Haileybury, Marlborough, and other public schools; on the Classical side the best training is given for the Universities and the learned professions; the Modern side has been tabulated to meet the requirements of the London University, and boys are prepared for the Army, the Civil Service, and for commercial pursuits.

For boys who are intended for the Medical profession no school in England possesses equal advantages; special training is provided for the London Matriculation and Preliminary Scientific examinations, and owing to the generosity of the London Hospitals there are NINE scholarships, ranging in value from £120 to £150, offered ANNUALLY to boys leaving.

The buildings are admirably situated and well arranged, and great improvements have been introduced; an excellent library, sanatorium, gymnasium, swimming bath, fives court, and carpenter's shop have been provided. The cricket grounds are very extensive, and have been much enlarged and improved. A Lower School to accommodate 100 junior boys was opened in May, 1897. There is also a Cadet Corps numbering over 100 boys.

The College charges are very much less than at any other school of the same class and offering the same advantages.

The religious teaching of the school is in accordance with the doctrines and formularies of the Church of England. The boys attend service regularly in the College Chapel, and the Head Master holds the office of chaplain.

With the exception of boys in the Head Master's and other houses, all pupils are boarded and lodged within the College walls. The College is subdivided into four houses, and the Lower School into two, each of which is in charge of a House Master. Parents may choose the House in which their son shall be placed, subject to the occurrence of a vacancy. The number of boys in the school is about 250.

The Council are most anxious that the College should not be regarded as exclusively intended for the sons of Medical Men. With this object in view they offer annually Entrance Scholarships, open to all comers, value £30 a year, for which the Examination is on July 1st.

School lists giving full information as to Fees, Scholarships, Exhibitions, &c., school prospectuses and forms of application, may be obtained on application to the Bursar, at the College, Epsom, Surrey.

UNIVERSITY OF EDINBURGH.

Chancellor: The Right Hon. A. J. BALFOUR, M.P., D.C.L., LL.D., &c.

Rector: Rt. Hon. RICHARD B. HALDANE, M.A., LL.D., M.P.

Principal and Vice-Chancellor: Sir WILLIAM TURNER, K.C.B., D.C.L., LL.D., D.Sc., M.B., &c.

Secretary of Senatus: Professor Sir LUDOVIC J. GRANT, Bart., B.A., LL.D.

The Winter Session begins about the middle of October, and closes about the end of March; the Summer Session extends from the beginning of May to the end of July.

The University embraces Six Faculties, viz., Arts, Science, Divinity, Law, Medicine and Surgery, and Music, in all of which full instruction is given and Degrees are conferred. There are many different avenues to the Arts Degrees, the graduation subjects embracing English History, Modern Languages, Science, &c., besides Ancient Languages, Philosophy, Mathematics, &c. The widening of the Arts curriculum permits to a greater extent than formerly the combination of Arts, Science, Medical, Legal, or special studies; and it has been shown by successes of Edinburgh students in the Civil Service Examinations that it is possible to combine study for Degrees in Arts, Science, or Law with preparation for this and other Special Examinations. In addition to the Ordinary and Honours Degrees in Arts, the Higher Degrees of D.Litt., D.Phil., and D.Sc. are conferred. A Schoolmaster's Diploma of two grades is conferred, viz.: a Secondary School Diploma for Masters of Arts with Honours, and for Graduates in Pure Science, and a General Diploma for those who have taken the Ordinary Degree of M.A., or the Degree of B.Sc. The Secondary School Diploma is recognised by the English Board of Education as qualifying for Registration as a Secondary School Teacher; the General Diploma is recognised by the English Board of Education and the Scotch Education Department as qualifying for employment in State-aided Schools. Education in Military subjects is given in connection with the Scheme of allotment of Army Commissions to graduates of the University. Degrees in Science (B.Sc. and D.Sc.) may be taken in Pure Science, Engineering, and in Public Health, and the Degree of B.Sc. in Agriculture. There are fully equipped Science Laboratories, and other necessary appliances in all these Departments. The curriculum in Divinity affords a thorough training in theological subjects, and in Hebrew, Arabic, and Syriac. The Degrees of Bachelor of Divinity (B.D.) is conferred. The Law Faculty, besides furnishing the professional equipment necessary for those intending to practise in Scotland, contains Chairs in Jurisprudence and Public International Law, Constitutional Law and History, Roman Law, and Political Economy, and is thus adapted for students preparing for the Civil Service Examinations, and for legal, political, and administrative appointments generally. The Degrees of Bachelor of Laws (LL.B.) and Bachelor of Law (B.L.) are conferred. The Faculty of Medicine has a full curriculum in Medicine and Surgery, and is equipped with very extensive Laboratories and all other necessary appliances for Practical Teaching. Ample facilities are afforded for Clinical instruction at the Royal Infirmary, Maternity Hospital, Royal Hospital for Sick Children, Hospital for Infectious Diseases, and Royal Asylum for the Insane. Four Degrees in Medicine and Surgery are conferred by the University, viz.: Bachelor of Medicine (M.B.), Bachelor of Surgery (Ch.B.), Doctor of Medicine (M.D.) and Master of Surgery (Ch.M.), and these Degrees qualify for practice throughout His Majesty's dominions, and for admission to the Naval, Military, and other Public Medical Services in the United Kingdom. A Diploma in Tropical Medicine and Hygiene is conferred on graduates in Medicine of the University. A University Certificate in Tropical Diseases is also conferred on qualified Medical Practitioners who have attended Courses in the University on Practical Bacteriology and Tropical Diseases; in Music there is a full course of study for graduation, and the Degrees of Mus.B. and Mus.D. are conferred.

The University Staff consists of 41 Professors, 49 Lecturers, and over 50 Assistants and Demonstrators. The annual amount available for Fellowships, Scholarships, Bursaries, Prizes, &c., is about £18,270. Facilities are afforded for research in scientific and other subjects.

Women may attend the Classes in Arts, Science, Divinity, and Music, and they are admitted to graduation in Arts, Science, Medicine, and Music, the training for Degrees in Medicine being afforded by well equipped Extra-academical Schools.

Information regarding Matriculation, the Curricula of Study for Degrees, &c., the Examinations for Fellowships, Scholarships, &c., may be obtained from the DEANS OF THE FACULTIES, or from the CLERK OF SENATUS; and full details are given in the University Calendar, published by JAMES THIN, 55, South Bridge, Edinburgh—price 3s. 6d. by post. The Preliminary and Degree Examination papers in each of the Faculties are also published by Mr. JAMES THIN, viz.—Arts and Science Preliminary papers and Bursary papers, 1/-; Medical Preliminary papers, 6d.; Degree papers: Arts, 1/-; Science, 9d.; Divinity, Law, Medicine, and Music, 6d. each.

By authority of the Senatus,

L. J. GRANT, Secretary of Senatus.

UNIVERSITY OF ABERDEEN.

Founded 1494.

Chancellor—THE RIGHT HON. LORD STRATHCONA AND MOUNT ROYAL, G.C.M.G., D.C.L., LL.D.

Principal—THE VERY REV. JOHN MARSHALL LANG, D.D., LL.D.

FACULTY OF MEDICINE.

The degrees in Medicine granted by the University are:—Bachelor of Medicine (M.B.), Bachelor of Surgery (Ch.B.), Doctor of Medicine (M.D.), Master of Surgery (Ch.M.). They are conferred only after Examination, and only on Students of the University. A Diploma in Public Health is conferred, after Examination, on Graduates in Medicine of any University in the United Kingdom. The total cost for the whole curriculum, including Hospital fees, and fees for the Degrees of M.B. and Ch.B., is usually about £150. Bursaries, Scholarships, Fellowships, and Prizes to the number of fifty, and of the aggregate annual value of £1,188 are open to competition in this Faculty. A prospectus of the classes, fees, etc., may be had free on application to the Secretary of the Medical Faculty. The University also grants the following Degrees in Arts, Science, Divinity, and Law:—In Arts, Doctor of Letters, Doctor of Philosophy, and Master of Arts. In Science, Doctor of Science, Bachelor of Science (in pure Science and Agriculture), and Bachelor of Divinity. In Divinity, Doctor of Divinity (Honorary) and Bachelor of Divinity. In Law, Doctor of Laws (Honorary) and Bachelor of Law (B.L.).—Particulars may be had on application to the Secretary of Faculties.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, BRISTOL.

FACULTY OF MEDICINE.

This College is the only Institution in the West of England which provides a complete Medical Curriculum. There is also a complete Dental Curriculum.

It is now arranged that Students of the College shall be admitted to the Clinical Practice of the Bristol Royal Infirmary and the Bristol General Hospital conjointly.

The Infirmary and the Hospital comprise between them a total of 470 beds; and both have very extensive Out-patient Departments, Special Departments for the Diseases of Women and Children, and of the Eye, Ear and Throat, besides large Out-door Maternity Departments, and Dental Departments.

Students also have the privilege of attending the practice of the Bristol Royal Hospital for Sick Children and Women, containing 104 beds, and that of the Bristol Eye Hospital with 40 beds. The total number of Beds available for Clinical Instruction is therefore 614.

Fever Hospital Practice is attended at the Hospitals for Infectious Diseases, of the Sanitary Authority of the Corporation of Bristol; and Lunatic Asylum Demonstrations at the City and County Lunatic Asylum, Fishponds.

Very exceptional facilities are thus afforded Students for obtaining a wide and thorough acquaintance with all branches of Medical and Surgical work. Each Student has the opportunity of personally studying a large number of cases, and of acquiring practical skill in diagnosis and treatment.

Prospectuses and all particulars may be obtained on application to JAMES RAFTER, Registrar, or to EDWARD FAWCETT, M.B., Dean.

Telephone No. 1
12085 Central.

Telegraphic Address:
"Damocles, London."

Registered Offices:

4, TRAFALGAR SQUARE, STRAND, W.C.

President—W. A. ELLISTON, M.D., J.P.

Hon. Treasurer—F. J. WETHERED, M.D., F.R.C.P.

The Objects of the Union are as follows:

I.—To support and protect the character and interests of Medical Practitioners practising in the United Kingdom.

II.—To promote honourable practice, and to suppress or prosecute unauthorised practitioners.

III.—To advise and defend or assist in defending Members of the Union in cases where proceedings involving questions of professional principle or otherwise are brought against them.

The Subscription at present is 10/- per annum, with an entrance fee of 10/-, and each Member has also to guarantee a certain sum (not less than one pound) which forms the extent of his liability.

The Guarantee Fund exceeds £9,000, and is available should any occasion require its being called up, but up to the present time all claims for administration, legal, and other costs have been defrayed out of the annual income.

Executive, Committee or Council Meetings are held at the Registered Offices every week, and cases of emergency are dealt with as they arise.

Application forms, copies of last Report, and any other information can be obtained by applying to the Secretary at the Registered Offices.

A. G. BATEMAN, M.B.,

General Secretary.

A Peptonised Food that can be made in a minute,
the addition of boiling water only being necessary.

The Allenburys' DIET

A PANCREATISED MILK AND CEREAL FOOD.

By the use of the "Allenburys" DIET all trouble of peptonising milk and farinaceous foods is overcome. In the sick-room it will be found extremely useful, as the food is easily digested and assimilated, is quickly made, and only the exact quantity required need be prepared at a time.

The "Allenburys" DIET is made from pure milk, rich in cream, and whole wheat, both ingredients being largely pre-digested during manufacture. It can be taken by those who cannot digest cow's milk, and provides a light and very nourishing diet for Invalids, Dyspeptics, and the Aged.

For travellers by sea or land this complete food will be found exceedingly valuable.
